A new president takes on challenges ahead

While preparing for my retirement as principal of St. Vincent's High School in Saint John and a 33-year career in the education system, I was also preparing to fulfill my commitment as the next president of the UNB Associated Alumni, an office I assumed on July 1. I have been fortunate to be able to give back to the institution as a member of the Board of Governors and during my terms as both first and second vice-president of the Alumni Council. This past experience has provided me with a strong foundation to begin this new challenge and to be an ambassador for UNB.

I welcome this opportunity to directly address the 53,000 alumni around the world who are members of our UNB family. Together, we can make a significant difference to the institution that has helped shape our lives and given us so much as we ventured out into that ever-changing world beyond our two main campuses in Fredericton and Saint John.

On behalf of the association, I would like to offer a sincere thank you to all outgoing members of the Alumni Council. I quickly realized when I first served on the Alumni Council several years ago that it is the heart and soul of our organization. Council members voluntarily sacrifice time from their families and professions to serve you through the association. Each member brings different strengths and skills to the table, but all have that one common link — their connection to and pride in UNB!

I would also like to extend a special thanks to our Immediate Past President, Richard J. Scott, who stepped in as president in the fall of 2001 when illness forced incoming President Bob Chambers to resign shortly after assuming the presidency. Richard unselfishly lent his leadership and experience to council once again, and helped keep the association and its activities on course.

During my term as president, I will work earnestly to see that the Associated Alumni continues to focus on the challenge of becoming even more supportive of UNB than at any time in its history. We will continue to use our 2001 strategic plan, Energized & Involved, as the blueprint for all that we do and to get more of you involved in ensuring the well-being of UNB. While building on our traditional programs and services, the association will remain committed to its five Key Results Areas (KRAs): Advice, Advocacy, Fundraising, Student Recruitment, and School-to-Work Transitions.

Council will develop an on-going review and evaluation of the KRAs so they will continue to be our guide in ensuring that all our activities and decisions are relevant to our plan. By continuing to commit to these KRAs, we will make a solid advancement in the areas that our membership, and the university, feel are a priority.

Since assuming the presidency on July 1, I have been encouraged by the support and interest expressed by many alumni. I have also had the opportunity to communicate with new council members during an orientation session and know that they will be a very valuable addition to our team.

I look forward to representing the Associated Alumni over the coming two years of my presidency. Our alma mater is the tie that binds us and one that we all continue to be proud of. I look forward to meeting many of you and encourage you to continue to show your support for UNB. Together, we can be Proudly UNB and Making a Significant Difference! Be Proud of It. Be Part of It.

Our new chancellor issues a challenge to the people of N.B.

Richard J. Currie has built quite a reputation in the Canadian business community, first by turning around the fortunes of the Loblaws grocery chain in the 1970s and '80s, and, most recently, leading a similar resurgence in the fortunes of BCE Inc., Canada's largest communications company.

One doesn't accomplish things such as this by mincing words. And now, as UNB's new chancellor, Dr. Currie (Class of '60, LLD '87) isn't about to change.

In our cover story, Dr. Currie issues a strong challenge to the people of New Brunswick — support your university because of the vital role it plays in the development of the province.

Dr. Currie also says he didn't take on the role of chancellor simply out of nostalgia. Rather, he wants to bring his lifetime of work and learning to bear on the challenges facing the University of New Brunswick today. Simply put, the chancellorship "is a job worth doing." See page 16 for more on the thoughts and life of Saint John native Richard Currie.

Get out your calendars, hand-held computers or whatever it is you use to keep track of where you should be when, and go to September 2004 and July 2005. Pencil/key in UNBSJ's Celebration 2004 for Sept. 10-12, and Fredericton's Homecoming 2005 for July 29-Aug. 1. Those will be the dates for the Associated Alumni's next big all-inclusive reunions, which we're sure will surpass the successes of their predecessors, Homecoming 2000 and Celebration 2000. See page 20.

Memories of Colin B.

Just a quick note to say how much I enjoyed the article by Dr. James Downey about Colin B. and Lord Beaverbrook in the spring edition of Alumni News. It was fascinating to read the whole story. As a boy growing up in Fredericton, I was at the Lady Beaverbrook Rink the day it opened, learned to swim at the Beaverbrook Residence pool, watched basketball at the Beaverbrook Gym, and even set pins at the downstairs bowling alley. With a father whose roots were in Newcastle on the Miramichi and who served with the North Shore Regiment (Lord B. was their honorary commander in chief), I was well aware of Lord Beaverbrook and his influence. By the time I arrived at UNB, Beaverbrook's on-campus presence consisted of one or two visits a year. We would perhaps see him at a football game in the fall or see his photo in the The Daily Gleaner during Encaenia.

But somehow, despite all of the above, I had never heard the full story of Beaverbrook's influence in Colin B.'s appointment. I do know that we, as students in the mid-'60s, thought the world of Colin B. He was older than we were, but not "too old." Like many of our fathers, he had served his country during the Second World War. He drove a Honda 50 motor scooter back and forth to campus (I had one just like his). He knew most of the students on campus by name and spoke to us often as we walked between classes. He sent "good luck" telegrams to the captains of the sports teams when we played in N.S., and attended most of the football, hockey and basketball games. He was seen by all of us as "our president" and we were proud to say so.

Regardless of how he came to be UNB's president, and the consternation that it may have caused among the faculty at the time, there is no doubt that he was one of the most important and influential presidents in UNB's history.

Thank you for adding one more chapter to his story.

Tom Condon honored

The Edinburgh Companion to Scots

By John Corbett (MA'82), J. Derrick
Edinburgh University Press
OMF International
ISBN: 0-7486-1596-2

This anthology of essays on older and present-day Broad Scots and Scottish English aims to introduce the general reader and the novice researcher to key topics in the field. After an introduction to the history and development of Scots, there are chapters on Scottish placenames and personal names, the vocabulary, grammar and pronunciation of older and present-day Scots, Scots in literature, and the development of the Scots language in Ireland and North America. John Corbett's concluding chapter provides an overview of language planning in contemporary Scotland.

Gunpowder and Grease Paint: The Nova Scotia International Tattoo

By Brian Cuthbertson (MA'70)
N.S. International Tattoo Society and Nimbus Publishing
ISBN: 1-55109-454-1

Gunpowder and Grease Paint is a permanent record of the Nova Scotia International Tattoo's first 25 years. The first Tattoo was held in 1979 as part of the International Gathering of the Clans. This year, its 25th anniversary, the Tattoo is internationally recognized as an extravaganza that includes pipe and drum bands, dancers, gymnasts, musicians and military personnel from Canada and around the world. Gunpowder and Great Paint takes a chronological approach to the Tattoo's history, and includes such details as complete lists of production, backstage and support staff from 1979-2003, and contains many photos from past tattoos.

Tall Pine Mystery

By Nettie Nan Doerksen (BA'78, MA'81)
OMF International
ISBN: 0-9731833-0-6

Tall Pine Mystery is Nan Doerksen's fifth book written for children. Set in Thailand, the story features Fredericton children Kim and Sandee (aged 8 and 10), whose parents are working in an isolated tribal village. When the sisters, who attend school in Chiang Mai, visit their parents for the Christmas holiday, they stumble into mysterious secrets and exciting adventures. This action-packed, carefully researched story whets the appetite of children to learn more about distant peoples and cultures.

Where Have All the Sawmills Gone Illustrations and Lumbering Photographs of the Ottawa Valley

By John Dunfield (BScF'50)

Self-published
ISBN: 0-9686119-1-5 (Where Have . . .
ISBN: 0-9696119-2-3 (Illustrations . . .)

These two books are an overview of 200 years of lumbering in the Ottawa Valley. They examine the lumbering settlements, square timber trade, the evolution of the sawmill industry, river drives and the advent of the pulp and paper and associated wood industries. The first book is spiral bound, and also describes some of the prominent lumber families and their homes, with tables and chronological forestry events listed in an appendix. The second book is perfect bound, and is 10 per cent text and 90 per cent illustration. Both books can be purchased from the author for $26 each, including postage and taxes. He can be reached at 2625 Regina St., Apt. 805, Ottawa, Ont., K2B 5W8.

Strange Lights at Midnight

By Allison Mitcham (MA'54, PhD'72)
Dreamcatcher Publishing
ISBN: 1-894372-13-1

An historical adventure set in Passamaquoddy Bay, Dr. Mitcham draws upon her own experience of boats and islands in Maritime Canada's unique waters; upon her veterinarian daughter's experience in raising sheep; and upon the area's heritage of privateering and sail to weave a romantic tale of history brought up to date. Angela runs a few sheep on a Passamaquoddy island. She discovers that an ancestor hid some valuable papers there and that somebody will go to great lengths to get them.

Team Player

By Biff Mitchell (BA'74)
Jacobyte Books (Australia)
(www.jacobytebooks.com)
ISBN: 1-74100-129-3 (Paperback)
1-74100-127-7 (eBook)

Hilarious, and ringing with wry truth, Team Player is a novel best enjoyed by those who can appreciate the absurdity of modern life. Written in a distinctive style, the book is full of vividly painted characters and odd, nearly unbelievable events that all tie together neatly in the end, though are a bit confusing before you get there. Lovingly detailed, Mitchell uses a series of scenes, e-mails and vignettes to leave the reader spellbound and helpless with incredulous laughter. His characterization is deep, yet the book itself is easily read. Off-beat, darkly humorous and all-too-realistic, Team Player is a truly great read.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Alumni News Books column welcomes information about recent publications by alumni and faculty. If you have been published, please send us the name of the book, the author and their connection to UNB, the publisher, the ISBN number, and a brief précis of the contents.

The Dish runs away with the Spoon, from the Second Collection of Pictures and Songs, written and illustrated by Randolph Caldecott.

Children's Literature Collection at HIL produces calendar

The Eileen Wallace Children's Literature Collection (CLC) on the Fredericton campus has produced a 2004 calendar to showcase the Harriet Irving Library's holdings in children's literature.

Entitled Allow Me to Illustrate, the calendar contains noteworthy illustrations from picture books held in the CLC, Special Collections and Archives, and the circulating collection of children's material held on the fourth floor of the library.

The final product is beautiful in design, rich in reproduction, and representative of the broad diversity of the library's holdings. The calendars make great gifts for individuals of all ages.

Each year, the CLC awards a $5,000 research fellowship to a scholar wishing to make use of the CLC to conduct scholarly research in the field of children's literature. The CLC's holdings represent the largest research resource of their kind in the Maritimes. The collection is endowed by librarian and long-time educator Eileen Wallace (BA'44, DLitt'01).

You can see the calendars in the reference office of the Harriet Irving Library. The contact is Rebecca Cornell at rcornell@unb.ca or (506) 453-4749. You may also visit the website at www.lib.hil.unb.ca/collections/clc/calendar.html.

The calendars are $12 each, tax included, or three for $30.

17 UNB alumni elected in June's New Brunswick vote

Seventeen of the 55 members of the New Brunswick Legislative Assembly elected June 9 are graduates of the University of New Brunswick — including the premier, the leader of the Opposition and two cabinet ministers.

"It is very exciting to see so many of our alumni contributing to the province in this way," said UNB President John D. McLaughlin. "Since its inception in 1785, UNB has played a fundamental role in the economic, social and cultural well-being of New Brunswick — and our alumni MLAs will continue this tradition."

An honorary graduate of UNB, Premier Bernard Lord was awarded a doctor of laws in 2001. The leader of the Opposition, Shawn Graham (BPE'91), is the MLA for Kent.

The UNB alumni appointed to cabinet are: Brad Green (BA'87, LLB'90), Conservative MLA for Fredericton South, minister of justice, minister responsible for aboriginal affairs and house leader; and Tony Huntjens (BT'70, BEd'78), Conservative MLA for Western Charlotte, minister of family and community services and minister responsible for the advisory council on seniors.

Also sitting as MLAs are: Thomas J. Burke (BA'98), Liberal, representing Fredericton North; Jody Carr (BBA'98), Conservative, Oromocto-Gagetown; Bev Harrison (BA'64, BEd'66), Conservative, Hampton-Belleisle; Trevor Arthur Holder (BA'95), Conservative, Saint John Portland; Larry Kennedy (BSc'72), Liberal, Victoria-Tobique; Kelly Lamrock (LLB'97), Liberal, Fredericton-Fort Nashwaak; Kirk MacDonald (BBA'97), Conservative, Mactaquac; Eugene McGinley (BA'57, MA'58, BCL'62), Liberal, Grand Lake; Mike Murphy (BBA'80, LLB'83), Liberal, Moncton North; Bernard Richard (LLB'78), Liberal, Shediac-Cap-Pelé; Milt Sherwood (BBA'63), Conservative, Grand Bay-Westfield; Wally Stiles (BBA'73), Conservative, Petitcodiac; and Scott Targett (BBA'84, BEd'87), Liberal, York.

"UNB congratulates each and every one of you for the commitment you've made to the people of New Brunswick," said Dr. McLaughlin. "We look forward to working with you to make New Brunswick a better place to live and work."

*Bernard Lord
Premier*

Shawn Graham Opposition Leader

Fredericton campus awarded $4.5M by N.B. government

UNB Fredericton will receive $4,551,144 from the provincial government under the University Infrastructure Trust Fund to upgrade and modernize several teaching and research laboratories.

"This investment will allow UNB Fredericton to improve its strategic infrastructure by undertaking major upgrades to the university's biology, chemistry and engineering laboratories," Premier Bernard Lord said. "UNB plays a pivotal role in our economy and in the scientific advancement of our society; a role we are very proud to reinforce."

UNB President John D. McLaughlin said he was "extremely pleased to have received this much-needed capital funding."

"This infrastructure trust fund is an important example of the growing partnership between the government and the universities in advancing the province's prosperity agenda," Dr. McLaughlin said. "This funding will be used to upgrade and modernize the biology, chemistry and engineering laboratories on the Fredericton campus and will make a significant difference in ensuring that we have modern facilities for our students."

The money will finance upgrades to the chemistry labs ($2,317,475), upgrades to the biology labs ($1,532,408) and upgrades to the undergraduate and research engineering labs ($701,261).

UNBSJ's technology-based education results in provincial funding

UNBSJ's leadership in the use of technology in education has resulted in the campus receiving an $848,856 contribution from the province's University Infrastructure Trust Fund.

"This investment will help UNB Saint John improve its strategic infrastructure and embrace innovation," Premier Bernard Lord said in making the announcement. "As university education becomes more and more computer and technology driven, those institutions that embrace this trend will rise above the rest. We are pleased to contribute to making UNB Saint John a leader in technology-based education."

Dr. Thomas J. Condon, Acting Vice-President at UNB Saint John when the funding was announced this spring, said he is "extremely pleased with the government's support."

"UNB Saint John is a key player in creating opportunities that will contribute significantly to the province's prosperity plan," he said. "With the latest in technological and laboratory equipment, the university will be able to continue to contribute to the province's workforce development."

The government's $850,000 investment will finance eight projects to enhance the university's teaching and research capacity. Seven of the projects will add significantly to the wireless teaching environment at UNBSJ, while the eighth will entail an upgrade to the environmental and marine biology research facilities.

12 UNB professors garner almost $1 million for research

The social sciences and humanities research agenda at UNB has been given a financial boost of close to $1 million in grants.

Ten professors from UNB Fredericton and two from UNB Saint John were awarded a total of $938,751 by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada (SSHRC) for the 2002-03 competition year.

Greg Kealey, UNB's vice-president (research), said this year's SSHRC results represent an increase of more than 100 per cent over last year's funding. "We look forward to even better results next year as both campuses continue to expand their research activities in the social sciences and humanities."

UNBF education professor Karen Goodnough was awarded $226,597 for her work on teacher development through action research. Her work will foster a greater understanding of how teachers and schools respond to a knowledge-based economy.

Kathleen Kufeldt, an adjunct sociology professor at UNBF, was awarded $193,168 for conducting research on children in government care and improving outcomes in child welfare. The project will generate data that can be used to inform policy and program development

Douglas Willms, director of the Canadian Research Institute for Social Policy at UNBF, received $105,000 for continuing to develop data and statistics seminars that fulfil the objectives set out by SSHRC and Statistics Canada.

Karen Murray of the UNBF political science department was awarded $88,811 for her work in the area of health governance and citizenship in Fredericton, Moncton and Saint John. The findings will offer a significant contribution to those working on poverty and health issues in urban contexts.

Will van den Hoonaard, a UNBF sociology professor, received $81,708 for his study of Canadian research ethics boards. The project will explore the disposition of qualitative research proposals, the approach of the boards toward social science research proposals, and the challenges social researchers face when submitting proposals to these boards.

Robert Whitney, a UNB Saint John history professor, was awarded $74,915 to investigate British West Indian (BWI) migration to Cuba from 1900 to the present. The research will examine the BWI impact on Cuban society and how the migrants reconstructed their lives through churches, lodges, clubs and schools, and through music and art.

Nursing professor Judy Wuest from UNBF received a grant worth $57,772 to study the process of achieving nonviolence in abusive intimate partnerships and how that process affects women's health. Findings from the study will point to new ways of looking at and addressing intimate partner violence.

Edith Snook, a UNBF English professor, was awarded $37,068 to study discourses about beauty found in women's literature from 1590 to 1670. Dr. Snook work will provide a historical framework to contemporary debates about female beauty.

UNBF history professor Sean Kennedy was awarded $27,701 to examine the career of André Siegfried, a French writer who played a major role in cultural life in France for six decades.

Virginia Hill, a UNB Saint John professor of French, received $26,011 to conduct a study of Romanian sentence structure.

Two UNBF researchers, Shawn Dalton of the Environment and Sustainable Development Research Centre and James Murray of the classics department, were awarded $10,000 each to hold workshops in their areas of expertise.

SSHRC is a federal agency that promotes and supports university-based research and training in the social sciences and humanities.

Helping protect our freshwater resources

It may be taken for granted, but Kerry MacQuarrie doesn't want it taken from us.

When you understand the reality that Canada's fresh water resources have deteriorated over the past four decades, Dr. MacQuarrie wants to be able to do something about it.

Now that the professor of civil engineering at UNB Fredericton holds a Canada Research Chair in Groundwater-Surface Water Interaction, he can get started on his ambitious projects.

His research and findings can help improve the quality of Canada's freshwater resources.

"The exchange and interaction of water between large rivers and groundwater aquifers is a key to understanding and maintaining water quality in river-bank wells commonly used for drinking water supply," said Dr. MacQuarrie. "The opportunity afforded by a Canada Research Chair should enable me, my collaborators and students to undertake some leading research in groundwater and surface water interactions."

Dr. MacQuarrie is developing methods to assess how long water takes to travel between surface water bodies and drinking wells in adjacent aquifers and is helping determine how much groundwater-derived nitrogen has invaded sensitive coastal estuaries.

The project will lead to a greater research capacity at UNB, enhancing partnerships among researchers and research departments while helping to make an enormous impact on our quality of life.

Dr. MacQuarrie's Canada Research Chair is the 10th awarded to UNB.

The Government of Canada established the Canada Research Chairs Program in 2000. The program was provided with $900-million to support the establishment of 2,000 chairs at universities across the country by 2005. The awarding of a Canada Research Chair is an honor to world-class researchers with leading-edge innovations in Canadian universities.

Grad 2003

A total of 1,880 students received degrees during the spring graduation ceremonies on the Fredericton and Saint John campuses.

As well, 10 honorary degrees were awarded by UNB during three ceremonies during the 174th Encaenia in Fredericton on May 28 and 29, and during the 34th spring Convocation in Saint John on May 30.

On the Fredericton campus, 1,377 students received their bachelor's degrees, 131 were awarded their masters degrees, and 18 achieved the highest level of academic accomplishment, the PhD.

At UNBSJ, 331 bachelor's degrees were awarded, 22 students received their masters, and one PhD was awarded.

During Ceremony C in Fredericton on May 29, Dr. Richard J. Currie (Class of '60, LLD'87) was officially installed as chancellor of UNB, succeeding Dr. Fredrik Eaton (BA'62, LLD'83), who had served as chancellor since 1993.

In the photos to the right and below are this year's honorary degree recipients. The degree they received is noted in brackets after their names.

Man in black

UNB held a reception for departing Chancellor Fredrik Eaton (BA'62, LL.D.'83) at the Bank of Montreal's Toronto headquarters in April, and presented him with a very personal — and appropriate — parting gift to mark his 10 years as the institution's honorary head. Dr. Eaton was given a black leather UNB jacket, complete with the UNB crest on one lapel, the letters UNB emblazoned across the back, and "62," his year of graduation, on the right sleeve. As well, Dr. Eaton and his wife Nicky were presented with a watercolour of a stretch of the Restigouche River.

UNB approves balanced budget for sixth year in a row

The UNB Board of Governors approved a $131.6-million operating budget for the institution's 2003-04 fiscal year, which began May 1. The budget represents an increase of $7.5 million or 6.07 per cent over 2002-03.

"For the sixth year in a row, UNB has a balanced budget," said President John D. McLaughlin.

For 2003-04, UNB will derive nearly 61 per cent of its operating revenue from the provincial operating grant. Tuition will comprise 35 per cent and about four per cent will come from other sources.

"Our top priority continues to be the delivery of quality, national-calibre programs to our students," said Dr. McLaughlin.

As part of its commitment to providing national-calibre programs and services, UNB is investing more than $850,000 in the areas of academic and student support for 2003-04. Nearly $350,000 of this will directly benefit graduate students. The lion's share, $317,000, will fund teaching and research assistantships.

In Fredericton, increased support will be provided for undergraduate scholarships, the math help centre, the Chimo help line, the centre for faculty teaching and learning, and campus recreation. New initiatives include the establishment of a student advocate position in Student Affairs and Services and a high-performance varsity soccer centre.

In Saint John, new investments will provide increased support for the student help desk and audio visual needs, and fund a full-time counselling position in Student Life and Support Services.

On both campuses, library acquisitions budgets will be increased by $93,500.

Investments in scholarships and recruiting have paid off with a university-wide enrolment increase of over five per cent for 2002-03.

"The revenue from this strategic enrolment growth has helped to balance the budget and has provided funding for investment in student support," said Dr. McLaughlin. "For 2003-04 we will continue to invest in strategic enrolment management, not only to sustain current enrolment levels but also to diversify our enrolment.

"Tuition increases, which are far below those of recent years, will help us to remain competitive in both regional and national markets, and to achieve our enrolment objectives."

For 2003-04, UNB's tuition fees for full-time undergraduate students will increase by $245, from $4,265 to $4,510, or 5.75 per cent.

"This is the lowest percentage increase in three years," said Dr. McLaughlin. "And we have the provincial government to thank. The increase in operating grants to universities announced by the province in its 2003-2004 budget, was a significant factor in keeping our tuition increase low."

For the 1,439 students living in residence on the Fredericton campus, fees for room and board will increase on average by 5.5 per cent for 2003-04. The increase in residence fees is the result of a quarter-million-dollar increase in heating costs last year, and rising operating costs and food prices.

In Saint John, a new 170-bed residence opened this fall. The fee for the new residence, which provides a greater set of amenities than the existing 70-bed Sir James Dunn Residence, will be $3,950. Fees for the Dunn residence will increase by 2.5 per cent to $3,824 for a large single room, which most residents have, to cover electrical heat and other cost increases.

The overall capital budget for 2003-04 is $10.2 million, with all funding sources secured. Tuition revenues are not used to support capital projects.

The major highlight of this year's capital budget is the receipt of $5.4 million in special one-time funding from the Province of New Brunswick.

"We took a very focused approach with this funding and targeted upgrades to teaching and research labs on the Fredericton campus and to labs and technology on the Saint John campus," said Dr. McLaughlin.

MAKING A SIGNIFICANT DIFFERENCE

You're Hearing Us

Message about UNB's pivotal role in life of N.B. being heeded

Survey says . . . Making a Significant Difference has made a significant difference.

Just a year ago, UNB launched the Making a Significant Difference (MASD) program, an integrated marketing effort designed to increase public awareness of UNB's pivotal role in the economic, social and cultural life of New Brunswick and beyond. The program, including its 'Proudly UNB' alumni component, garnered intensive media exposure through the fall, winter and spring. The message centered on alumni — educators, employers, researchers, health-care workers — who are making an everyday impact on the quality of life for New Brunswickers.

As the initial phase of the program took a hiatus this summer, the question to be asked was "Is the message getting out?"

It is.

This spring, an independent market research company conducted 600 telephone surveys of the general population of N.B., including almost 100 who turned out to be UNB alumni, to see if Making a Significant Difference was accomplishing its mission of spreading the word about UNB's strengths and successes. The survey's overall margin of error was  $\pm 4$  per cent, 19 times out of 20, or a 95 per cent confidence level.

Making a Significant

The results of the survey were gratifying. Among the survey's indicators of the success of Making a Significant Difference were:

- UNB achieved top unaided (no prompting by the surveyor) awareness among universities in general and top aided awareness for Atlantic universities;
- UNB dominated any other university advertising in 2002/03;
- Those polled had a very high MASD program awareness (80 per cent of all those surveyed recalled the advertisements), even higher for alumni (94 per cent recall);
- UNB was seen by general public as "Making a Significant Difference" and as relevant to New Brunswick;
- There were particularly positive results among alumni and their attitudes and perceptions towards UNB. (More on this in a moment.)

Susan Mesheau is director of the Office of Student Recruitment and Integrated Marketing (SRIM) in Fredericton, the office spearheading the Making a Significant Difference program.

"Enhancing the reputation and identity of UNB is a primary mandate of our office and developing a brand image and awareness of that image is a critical first step," she said. "UNB has demonstrated a very forward-thinking approach by supporting the role of marketing in its overall operation."

Ms. Mesheau said the market research also revealed several other success indicators in the program's first year. She pointed out more than 2,000 information kits about the program were distributed (1,000 of them directly to alumni), more than 600 alumni sent in postcards supporting the effort, and the program positively affected other areas, including a six-per cent increase in student enrolment, a growth in the number of active alumni, increased government funding, heightened media attention, and an increase in first-time donors.

When it comes to the details of the survey, a number of other indicators provided telling evidence of the success of Making a Significant Difference, Ms. Mesheau said.

Asked their perceptions of UNB, fully 71 per cent of all respondents (and 76 per cent of those who were alumni) gave UNB good to excellent ratings for being "relevant to New Brunswickers," and 66 per cent of all respondents (73 per cent of those who were alumni) gave UNB similar ratings for "making a difference in the lives of NBers."

"Neither of these two characteristics of UNB were even on the radar screens of New Brunswickers before we launched Making a Significant Difference," Ms. Mesheau said.

Other characteristics in which UNB was rated highly included educational excellence (66 per cent overall, 79 per cent alumni), variety of programs (65 per cent overall, 89 per cent alumni), tradition (56 per cent overall, 81 per cent alumni), leadership in the community (44 per cent overall, 57 per cent alumni), research and development (43 per cent overall, 62 per cent alumni), and innovative and ground-breaking (36 per cent overall, 52 per cent alumni).

Just as importantly, there was a significant increase in alumni perceptions of these UNB characteristics from a similar survey taken in 2001, before the launch of Making a Significant Difference.

The following figures show the increase in positive alumni sentiments between 2001 and 2003:

	2001	2003
Educational excellence	73%	79%
Variety of programs	73%	89%
Tradition	65%	81%
Leader in community	47%	57%
Research & development	46%	62%
Innovative, ground-breaking	45%	52%

Finally, the survey pointed to several encouraging sentiments about UNB in particular, and higher education in general.

For example, 82 per cent of respondents indicated they would likely recommend UNB to a friend or relative planning to attend university.

As for universities in general, 70 per cent of respondents disagreed with the statement that Maritime universities are at a lower educational standard than those in the rest of Canada, while 95 per cent felt government should support universities financially, 70 per cent felt universities should be the main resource for research and development in the province, and 69 per cent said communities should support universities financially.

With these results from the first year of Making a Significant Difference in hand, Ms. Mesheau and others who are managing the project are looking forward to the next phase (see story page 13).

"The campaign has achieved very positive results in the marketplace," she said. "This program forms the foundation of all UNB communications initiatives, so in the next phase we need to ensure that all our activities remain integrated and continue to build UNB's image in the market over the long term.

"Our audience is telling us they like what they hear and they're ready to hear more, so our job is not finished."

MASD: PHASE 2

'We want to make UNB even more connected to the community, business and government'

Many of you will be seeing and hearing more about UNB in a renewed integrated marketing program across New Brunswick this fall.

The Making a Significant Difference (MASD) program will enter phase two this fall — a year after its inauguration — with another series of television and newspaper spots designed to further entrench the understanding that UNB is fundamental to life in New Brunswick.

"We want to make UNB even more connected to the community, business and government," said Susan Mesheau, director of UNB's Office of Student Recruitment and Integrated Marketing (SRIM). "We want to garner greater support for UNB, and its important role in the economic, social and intellectual development of the province. It's important that we build a greater understanding of UNB, to generate pride in the university, and support recruitment, alumni and donor relations activities."

The strategy to accomplish these objectives will focus on dominating key advertising media in the province through a combination of high impact and frequency, Ms. Mesheau said. Hand-in-hand with this approach to the public will be messaging aimed at specific audiences such as government, community and business leaders, and the UNB community itself.

The messaging of this next phase of MASD essentially will remain the same, but with a refined focus. While the initial thrust a year ago centered on contributions UNBers have made to education, industry, research, health care, the environment, and technology, this next phase will reflect two key areas of contribution — social/community development and economic/technology development.

In late September, a six-week-long television and newspaper campaign was to begin across N.B. The initial message in both media will focus on alumni/faculty/staff contributions to the community and economy, followed by a series of spots highlighting "UNB Significant Facts."

Backing up the media exposure will be a direct e-mail campaign. An e-mail database of those interested in receiving UNB information — whether they be alumni, community leaders or the general public — has been developed. The e-mails will provide frequent updates of information that connects UNB to the community, and the contributions made by alumni, faculty, staff and students.

"The e-mails will allow for frequent information delivery that will build on our ongoing relationships with the audiences we want to reach," Ms. Mesheau said. "It's a medium that will allow us to provide more tactical delivery of our messages to specific audiences, and also give us an opportunity for rich content."

Information kits on MASD — and on the alumni component, Proudly UNB — will continue to be available.

And as was the case last fall, those most closely associated with UNB, from President John McLaughlin to the vice-presidents, deans, directors, faculty and, of course, alumni, will be taking every opportunity to spread the MASD message.

MASD program wins gold medal in CASE competition

The University of New Brunswick's Making a Significant Difference (MASD) program has captured the gold . . . and the silver.

The Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) has awarded UNB a gold medal in its prestigious Circle of Excellence Awards competition for 2003. UNB competed in the institution-wide branding program category against universities from Canada, the U.S. and Europe.

MASD also won the silver award in the Canadian Council for the Advancement of Education's (CCAE) 2003 Prix d'Excellence awards program. UNB took the silver in the best institutional branding category, which included submissions from universities and colleges across Canada.

MASD, launched by UNB last September, is the university's first fully integrated marketing program. The purpose of the ongoing campaign is to increase awareness of the important role UNB plays in the prosperity of N.B.

"It's wonderful to be recognized by our peers, as is the case with these awards," said Susan Mesheau, director of the Office of Student Recruitment and Integrated Marketing (SRIM) on the Fredericton campus. "Congratulations to our entire advancement team on both campuses who worked so hard to make the Making a Significant Difference program a success."

In addition to Ms. Mesheau and SRIM, other key players and offices in the program are Mark Hazlett, executive director of the Office of Alumni Affairs, Susan Montague, director of the Office of Development and Donor Relations, and David Emerson, director of the Office of Advancement, Communications and Recognition on the Saint John campus.

UNB shared top spot in the CASE competition with McDaniel College in Westminster, Md. The silver medal went to Imperial College London in the United Kingdom while the University of Rochester's Simon School of Business in New York captured bronze.

David Ganong (BBA'65) and his family have a significant impact on the everyday life of their hometown. It's a responsibility he takes very seriously.

St. Stephen's David Ganong, Making a Significant Difference

David Ganong (BBA'65) is the very epitome of a UNB graduate who gives back to his community.

As president of Ganong Bros. Ltd., the St. Stephen, N.B., candy and chocolate maker that has been in his family since 1873, Mr. Ganong runs a business that employs some 250 local residents.

That in itself is a significant economic contribution to a small town of about 5,000 residents tucked away in the southwest corner of the province. Just as impactful, however, are the many social and cultural connections Mr. Ganong and his family — wife Diane, daughter Bryana, and sons Aaron and Nicholas — maintain with the community.

The Ganongs support local social agencies — a nursing home is housed in a building donated by the family, as is a middle school. Area sports teams are sponsored by the Ganongs, and the ice surface in the town's rink is tended by a Zamboni bought with the family's help. Cultural attractions such as the Chocolate Museum and summer Chocolate Fest have prospered, thanks to financial assistance from Mr. Ganong, his family, and the company. And the Ganong Nature Park at Todd's Point in Charlotte County offers area residents a scenic heritage/environmental experience on its walking trails.

All this community involvement and dedication resulted in Mr. Ganong being named last year as one of '10 Canadians Who Made A Difference' by Maclean's magazine. Maclean's said Mr. Ganong is "remarkable for his steadfast refusal to relocate his out-of-the-way New Brunswick confectionery business. Turning down riches from multinational suitors, Ganong remains dedicated to supporting the community he was born in."

For Mr. Ganong, that support comes naturally.

"St. Stephen has made a tremendous commitment to us," Mr. Ganong, who also sits on UNB's Board of Governors, told Maclean's. "I feel a tremendous bond of loyalty to our employees and our community." Mr. Ganong can be counted among the thousands of UNB alumni who are Making a Significant Difference, both within New Brunswick and beyond.

UNIVERSITY OF NEW BRUNSWICK BE PROUD OF IT. BE PART OF IT.

WE ARE PROUDLY UNB...

For us, believing in New Brunswick means believing in our university. We are Proudly UNB, a group of alumni from the University of New Brunswick that devote time to building awareness and support for our alma mater. Our goal is simple... get the message out that the university is vitally important to our province... to our industries and communities, and for our future.

PROUD AND PROACTIVE...

UNB is as old as the province itself. It has a long, proud history of graduating those who have built New Brunswick. It continues that tradition today. Those of us involved with Proudly UNB are extremely proud to have graduated from the University of New Brunswick and we want to actively inform, motivate and involve those who feel the same way. Because when it comes down to it, UNB generates the energy as to where our province can go by the graduates who will take it there.

BUILDING AND PROVIDING SUPPORT...

Proudly UNB wants to create a dialogue for, and between, our alumni here and around the globe. This dialogue will speak our message to companies and governments, students enrolled and those yet to come, that UNB is crucial to the future of our province. Together, we will be UNB's voice and speak loudly as to its importance and the necessity of our joint support.

UNB welcomes its new

Chancellor

Richard J. Currie (Class of '60, LLD'87) stepped into office as UNB's chancellor on May 29 with a challenge for all those who care about the institution.

"To the people of New Brunswick, I would say, 'This is your university'," Dr. Currie said in his installation addresses during Encaenia in Fredericton and Convocation in Saint John. "If you, and in particular your leaders in all fields, don't support it and your president, then nobody else in the rest of Canada or anywhere else will support it."

Strong words indeed, but perfectly in context for the man who has become a legend in Canadian business, and who now returns to UNB with a hands-on approach as its fifth modern-day chancellor.

Dr. Currie entered UNB as a chemical engineering student in 1955. He enjoyed his UNB experience, and has stayed in touch with the university and the people he met here throughout his career. But he did not return as chancellor solely out of nostalgia.

In his installation address, Dr. Currie cited the book The Ethics of Memory by Avishai Margalit, who suggested that remembering is an act of caring.

"As such, it implies obligations in the relationship of past to present," Dr. Currie said. "Memory does more than simply recall or remind. It also engages us in the issues and consequences of the past so that we carry their meaning and their responsibility into the present.

"It is in that spirit that I accepted the role of chancellor — not out of golden memories of the past, but in an attempt to relate those times to a lifetime of work and learning, and to today."

But there was more to his decision than that. Dr. Currie said that as "a creature of commerce," he was intrigued by UNB President John McLaughlin's goal of "promoting UNB's fundamental role in the economic, social and cultural development of the region."

"In commercial terms, I believe the beginning of wisdom is to be found in recognizing and facing the facts," Dr. Currie said. With New Brunswick down the scale in productivity and standard of living among the provinces and states, Dr. Currie said there need to be fundamental changes to the status quo.

"One thing I do know about economics is that without economic progress, there can be no social progress. And while I realize full well that business people on occasion may not be the most likeable of God's creatures, it is those same business people who make social progress possible for everybody."

Dr. Currie said he applauds Dr. McLaughlin for his vision of the role UNB can play in the future of New Brunswick.

He also took the opportunity to directly address the graduates on both campuses, urging them to bet on themselves, and take risks.

“Take the risk if you think you can do the job. Every job I ever got was because the business was in serious trouble . . . . All were gambles, but they all paid off.

“I was no different from you students and graduates here today — in my case a boy from Saint John who didn’t know how good he was until he took a few chances. And that goes for any field, not just business. The motto of this university is Sapere Aude, Dare to be wise. I say to you, Dare to be different. Believe in yourself.”

The record confirms that in his working life, Dr. Currie lived by his own words.

Born on Oct. 4, 1937, Dr. Currie grew up on Duke Street in Saint John’s south end, the youngest child of Agnes and Hugh Currie, who was a machinist at Saint John Iron Works. He had two older sisters, Beth and Anne.

His parents nurtured their children to do the best they could in life.

“My mother was demanding and expected the best in all aspects of life from me,” Dr. Currie said. “She prized education as the route to success.

“My father was a thoughtful and generous man who urged me to listen and to work with and through people. Also, that I should never expect thanks or gratitude for anything I did. As I grew older, I realized that gratitude is the noblest of all human virtues because it is the rarest.”

By 1955, Dr. Currie was on the cusp of a new stage in his life. He was about to graduate from Saint John High School, where he both enjoyed and excelled in math and the sciences, and was elected the Life President of the Class of 1955. Then came the news that he still credits today for much of his success — he’d won a Beaverbrook Scholarship from UNB.

“UNB had a good reputation in chemistry and engineering, it was close to home, the Beaverbrook Scholarship eased the financial burden, and I knew I could get work when I graduated — all very reasoned and pragmatic judgments, even for a boy of 17,” Dr. Currie said.

He came Up the Hill in the fall of 1955, settling into residence at Lady Beaverbrook, and quickly becoming active in student affairs. He served as president of the Freshman Class, and, just as importantly, formed new friendships that would last a lifetime. Among those friends was Rod Nolan (BSCEE’57, MSCEE’63), currently chair of the UNB Board of Governors.

“I still keep in touch with many of my friends from those days,” Dr. Currie said. “My years at UNB were happy and we raised more than a little hell.”

But by 1958, Dr. Currie had to move on. In those days, a chemical engineering degree could not be completed at UNB, so it was off to the Technical University of Nova Scotia (TUNS), from which he graduated with his degree in 1960.

Shortly after graduation, Dr. Currie returned to his hometown to work at the Lantic Sugar Refinery, where he crossed paths again with Rod Nolan, who was consulting there. Dr. Currie remained with Lantic through most of the 1960s, marrying and becoming the father of three daughters, Lee, Bryn and Beth (BPE’93), before deciding to do his MBA (1970) at Harvard.

By 1972, Dr. Currie had joined the company where his work would make him a Canadian business icon. By 1976, Dr. Currie was president of Loblaw Companies Limited. At that time Loblaws was in rough financial waters, and had a market value of about $40 million.

‘Take the risk if you think you can do the job. Every job I ever got was because the business was in serious trouble . . . . All were gambles, but they all paid off.’

'My job as chancellor is to ensure UNB is recognized for the fine institution it is today, and to help define its role in the future growth of the province.'

Over the next 25 years, Dr. Currie shepherded the company into Canada's most successful supermarket chain. He oversaw innovation in stores and products so that today the company has a market value of $14 billion, 350 times its market value when Dr. Currie became president.

Dr. Currie also became president of Loblaws parent company, George Weston Ltd., in 1996, and in May 2002 when he stepped down from that position its share price had risen from $16 to $123. But his business career wasn't quite over.

In April 2002, Dr. Currie was named chairman of BCE Inc., Canada's largest communications company. His appointment came at a time when, in Dr. Currie's words, the company had been "staggered" by some disastrous investment decisions. By this past spring, BCE was again on stable financial ground after Dr. Currie and BCE chief executive officer Michael Sabia led a complex $6-billion buyback of 20 per cent of subsidiary Bell Canada. The result of that move and others was that in one year, BCE's value increased by about $8 billion.

Dr. Currie's business acumen has brought him a host of honors. He became a member of the Order of Canada in 1997, was named Canada's Outstanding CEO of the Year in 2001, and was inducted into the Canadian Business Hall of Fame this year.

Outside of the office, Dr. Currie and wife Beth, aside from a little golf and skiing, maintain an intense interest in history and the arts.

"I ski less now than I once did for fear I'll break my neck rather than a leg," Dr. Currie said. "For us, Canadian art is a real passion, as is travel, mainly to go to galleries and the theatre."

Dr. Currie has also been a longtime financial supporter of UNB. Among those commitments, he sponsors the Blake/Kirkpatrick Scholarship in Engineering and the Blake/Kirkpatrick Scholarship. The former offers annually two scholarships each of up to $55,000 over five years awarded to two students in engineering who graduate from a high school in the Atlantic Province. The latter offers annually two scholarships each of up to $45,000 over four years to two students who graduate from an Atlantic Provinces high school and who aren't studying engineering.

The scholarships are in memory of his grandmothers, Ida Mae Blake, who married James Adam Johnstone, and Jannet Kirkpatrick, who married James Henderson Currie.

With his business career at last beginning to wind down, Dr. Currie expects to have time to devote to his role as chancellor of UNB.

"UNB is the provincial university, and has a vital role to play in the development of New Brunswick in the 21st century.

"My job as chancellor is to ensure UNB is recognized for the fine institution it is today, and to help define its role in the future growth of the province.

"Last year in my first address to the shareholders as chairman at BCE, I said that I didn't need the work and I didn't need the money, but BCE and Bell were great Canadian institutions. Someone had to be chairman and it is a job worth doing.

"So it is with UNB. It is a great institution. Someone had to be chancellor and it is a job worth doing. With your help, and only with your help, I intend to do it."

Hazlett heads up CCAE; CD initiative wins silver medal

Mark Hazlett (BPE'87, MPE'89), executive director of the UNB Associated Alumni, has assumed the presidency of the Canadian Council for the Advancement of Education (CCAЕ), a national organization that promotes excellence in institutional advancement and public awareness of educational issues in Canada.

Mark took over his lead role in CCAE on June 17 at the council's 10th anniversary celebrations during its annual conference in London, Ont. He succeeds to the two-year term as president after serving as CCAE's treasurer for a number of years.

Also during the annual conference, the UNB Associated Alumni's graduate CD project was awarded a silver medal in CCAE's nation-wide Prix d'Excellence awards program in the category for Best E-Innovation in University Advancement.

In 2002, the association produced a business-card sized CD containing photos of both campuses and random, casual shots of students submitted by members of the graduating class. The nostalgic four-minute CD, set to music, also contained links to the association's website, and encouraged the new grads to stay in touch with the association and the university. It was distributed to all members of the Class of 2002 during Encaenia in Fredericton and Convocation in Saint John. The CD was produced under the direction of Vicki Lanteigne, the association's student relations and young alumni co-ordinator. The project was financed by Andy Devereaux (BScEE'71, BA'73, DLitt'98).

A similar CD, with new photos of students, was distributed again this year to members of the Class of 2003.

CCAЕ is a volunteer-driven organization with more than 1,000 members representing more than 170 Canadian educational institutions. CCAЕ's members come from all areas of the advancement field, including alumni relations, advancement services, communications, development, government relations, student recruitment, and marketing. CCAЕ provides excellent opportunities for networking, professional development and mutual support.

ASSOCIATION ACTIVITIES

Homecoming 2005! July 29-Aug. 1, 2005

Top, the Big Tent on Chapman Field was the main venue for Homecoming 2000, which drew more than 3,000 participants, including this happy group.

Mark these dates on your calendar

The dates have been set for Homecoming 2005, the next big all-inclusive UNB reunion.

The event will be held on the Fredericton campus from Friday, July 29, 2005, until Monday, Aug. 1, 2005.

That gives you all about 21 months to make your plans to attend. Homecoming 2005 will be modelled on our Homecoming 2000 reunion, which drew more than 3,000 of you, the largest reunion we've ever held.

Watch for further details on our website and in upcoming editions of the Alumni News.

But remember, start booking your time NOW!

Introducing our new reunion co-ordinator

The UNB Associated Alumni has a new reunion and special events co-ordinator.

Barb MacMullin (BPE'74) succeeds Athena Kreiner (BPE'99), who has left the office after four years to move to Thunder Bay, where husband Jon Kreiner (BPE'99, BEd'99) has been named head coach of the Lakehead University women's basketball team.

Barb joins the Alumni Office following 29 years in the N.B. middle and high school education system, most recently as a staff member at the high school in Harvey, N.B.

Barb brings to her new portfolio event management skills gained from being a part of the organizing committees for numerous athletic and charity events. In addition to administering the association's extensive reunion program, and organizing various special events, Barb also accepts the responsibility of co-ordinating various alumni/athletic events in a new partnership the association has forged with the Varsity Reds program. Barb can be reached at (506) 447-3371 or reunions@unb.ca.

UNBSJ's Celebration 2004! Sept. 10-12, 2004

The next HUGE alumni celebration at UNB Saint John has been set for Sept. 10-12, 2004.

Those will be the dates for Celebration 2004.

Next year marks some significant anniversaries for the Saint John campus — 40 years since the campus was established, 35 years since the Tucker Park campus was opened, and 30 years since the first official class graduated from the campus.

The Saint John Alumni Action Committee wants to ensure that these major milestones in the history of the Saint John campus get the recognition they deserve, and so planning for Celebration 2004 is now under way. Celebration 2004 will be modelled on the all-class reunion held in September 2000, and which drew more than 300 SJ alumni and friends for golf, special reunions and a dinner.

If you would like to get involved in plans for an all-class celebration please contact the Alumni Office at 648-5906 or e-mail alumnisj@unbsj.ca.

UPCOMING EVENTS

NEED MORE INFORMATION?

Updates and additions to our Upcoming Events are also listed on the UNB Alumni Web Page: www.unb.ca/alumni/

REUNIONS

Oct. 24-26, Lady Dunn Hall

Lady Dunn Hall is celebrating its 40th anniversary. The current house committee invites all former Duffers back home Oct. 24-26. For further information, please contact reunion co-ordinator Barb MacMullin at (506) 447-3371, reunions@unb.ca.

CHAPTERS

Halifax, Oct. 4

The UNB Halifax Chapter First Annual Golf Tournament will be at the Lost Creek Golf Course in Sackville, N.S. Tickets to cover the green fee are $45 and are available from Eric Burchill (h) 902-453-0633 or eric@cbcl.ca. Proceeds are in support of the Halifax Chapter Scholarship Fund.

Ottawa, Nov. 1

Mark Nov. 1 on your calendar. The traditional Ottawa Dinner Dance will take on a new look and flavour this year as the Ottawa alumni experience another UNB Alumni tradition — a Maritime Lobster Boil! There will be a Silent Auction to raise funds for the UNB Ottawa Chapter Thomas Foulkes Sr. Scholarship. If you have an auction item to donate or would like more info, please contact Mike Vanderveer: (h) 613-727-5211, mike.vanderveer@unb.ca.

Saint John, Dec. 4: Fredericton, Dec. 5

Alumni and guests are invited to a Christmas Party on the Saint John campus on Dec. 4 and in the Alumni Memorial Building in Fredericton on Dec. 5. Watch our website for further details or contact the alumni office (506) 453-4847 or alumni@unb.ca.

Can't find your name on the Donor Honour Roll list? 🙄

It's probably because your gift fell outside the parameters of the reporting period (May 1, 2002, to April 30, 2003) or you have asked to remain anonymous. If you have questions about this listing, or are concerned that your name was missed, please contact Peter Coates at (506) 453-6305 or by e-mail at pcoates@unb.ca.

UNB Alumni Educators

Making a Significant Difference in our schools, our province and around the world

The UNB Associated Alumni invites all education graduates to become energized and involved alumni by lending us your support.

We are privileged in having a strong and visible UNB Alumni Educators group here at UNB, and you can be a part of that effort.

What do Alumni Educators do?

As an integral part of our family of outstanding UNB education graduates, our UNB Alumni Educators assist and support UNB in its student recruitment efforts across the province and around the world. As an educator, you are in a prime position to assist us in communicating the UNB experience, encouraging our youth to be the next generation of proud UNB alumni and take advantage of all UNB has to offer as they move on to post-secondary education.

How can becoming part of the Alumni Educators help?

By becoming part of the UNB Alumni Educators, we encourage you to display in your classroom the UNB materials we will make available to you, speak first hand of your personal experiences at UNB, offer your expertise and share your stories of what university life is like, and keep your students informed of when UNB will be visiting your school or community. It's that simple! By completing an Alumni educator registration form, you will be ensuring that we provide you with the support you need and supply you with UNB materials containing information on all UNB programs, services, student life, athletics, and much more. By merely doing that, you are supporting UNB and assisting UNB in its ongoing student recruitment efforts in communicating our message to prospective students.

By assisting us with this effort, you will indeed become energized and involved with the Associated Alumni. To become a member of the UNB Alumni Educator group, please provide your name, e-mail address, mailing address, name of the school where you teach, specialized area(s) of teaching and grade(s), and the position you hold at your school (teacher, supply teacher, principal, vice-principal, guidance counsellor, etc.).

Register online at www.unb.ca/alumni/recruit/teachersform.html, or please forward this information, using the form below, to :

A l u m n i AWARDS of HONOUR

Linda Dashwood

Michael Schofield

In 1971 the University of New Brunswick Alumni Council established the Alumni Award of Honour to recognize the important role played by alumni in promoting the university and helping it to achieve and maintain its position of prominence among Canadian universities.

This year the Associated Alumni will give its most prestigious award to two dedicated graduates — Linda Dashwood (BA'73) of Fredericton, and Michael Schofield (BScCE'58) of Moncton, N.B.

Ms. Dashwood has been a member of the UNB Board of Governors, and also served on the Alumnae and Alumni councils. She was president of the Alumnae Association from 1993-95 and in 1996.

Mr. Schofield also has served as a member of the Associated Alumni Council, and was appointed to the Board of Governors in 1986. From 1992 to 1994, he served as chair of the board.

The association has also named Thomas J. Condon, vice-president emeritus, and Susan Montague, director of the Office of Development and Donor Relations, Honourary Members of the UNB Associated Alumni for their outstanding service to the association and UNB.

Call for nominations

Nominations are now being sought for the Alumni Award of Honour. Nominations should indicate what the individual has done to support the goals of the association and should be sent no later than Dec. 31, 2003, to: Chair of the Awards Committee, Office of Alumni Affairs, P.O. Box 4400, Fredericton, N.B. E3B 5A3.

ASSOCIATION ACTIVITIES

Association's Palm Pilot draw attracts grads to EFL service

The Associated Alumni offered a special incentive this spring for members of the Class of 2003 to stay connected with the association and the university.

The incentive was a Palm Pilot. The catch was, graduating students had to first claim an alumni EFL (E-mail Forwarding for Life) account to be eligible for a draw for the Palm Pilots. One student from each of the 11 Fredericton faculties and three Saint John faculties were awarded one of the prizes.

The results were excellent. Almost 25 per cent of the more than 1,800 students who graduated this spring left the campuses with EFL accounts.

And some faculties had extremely high rates of participation: 12 of the 15 graduates (80 per cent) of Renaissance College claimed their accounts, while in law, 44 of 75 graduates (59 per cent) opted for EFL.

EFL was established by the association about three years ago as a free service, and is available to all UNB alumni (visit www.unb.ca/alumni/efl.html), and, since January, current students.

EFL is a forwarding service, not a full-account e-mail service. When a user claims an EFL account (for example, jane.doe@unb.ca), he or she is required to set a 'mail destination' to which their messages will be sent. By taking your current full-service e-mail account and linking it to your EFL account ID, you have to give friends and family just one e-mail address — your EFL account — for the rest of your life, no matter how many times your personal account changes. Be sure to update your EFL account as you move through life to ensure that it is active and you stay connected.

These 2003 graduates from the Saint John campus, Tashina McCluskey (BN), Elizabeth Hickman (BA), and Jenn Kiervin (BBA) each received a free Palm Pilot courtesy of the Associated Alumni, for claiming their EFL accounts before graduation.

To date, about 7,000 EFL accounts have been claimed, and the count has been growing by an average of 140 a week since the first of the year.

Funding for the Palm Pilot draw project was provided by Andy Devereaux (BScEE'71, BA'73, DLitt'98).

Harris Directory project ends

Harris Publishing has concluded making the thousands of telephone calls and sending the thousands of postcards and e-mails necessary for the production of the UNB Alumni Directory.

After a months-long campaign this spring and summer to contact as many of you as possible to confirm or update your information, Harris is now in the process of printing the hardcopy editions of the directory and burning the CD versions. Those of you who have ordered copies should be receiving them in November or December.

Association Executive Director Mark Hazlett said the UNB Alumni Directory — the third the association has produced — will be a great tool to help alumni keep in touch.

"I certainly want to express my appreciation to all our members who replied to Harris, our partners in this project," Mr. Hazlett said. "In this day of constant contact by countless organizations, I was gratified by the overall patience and co-operation shown by members of the UNB Associated Alumni in replying to Harris's calls, postcards, and e-mails."

Anyone who has any questions regarding the directory, should contact the Alumni Office.

UNBSJ students name alumni staffer member of Grad Class

UNBSJ's Class of 2003 offered up some surprise recognition during Convocation May 30 for a member of the Associated Alumni's staff.

Class members named program manager Mary Duffley, who works in the association's Saint John office, an honorary graduate of the Class of 2003.

A plaque presented to Mary cited her for all the "guidance, support and assistance provided to the Class of 2003." The plaque was presented to Mary during the graduation ceremonies.

Mary has played a pivotal role in providing support for numerous alumni and student activities in Saint John, particularly in the development of the association's Action Plan to Energize and Involve UNB Saint John Alumni, which was unveiled last year. She also manages a number of the association's programs.

Lobster Boil packs 'em in

The annual Lobster Boil and Silent Auction on the Fredericton campus in June drew more than 250 participants.

Joining the 50-year Class of 1953 were contingents from the Class of 1948, Class of 1963, and Class of 1963, Civil and Surveying Engineering.

This year's Silent Auction in support of the UNB Alumni Scholarship Fund raised $2,069.

Thanks to all who attended and supported our scholarship fund, and a special thank-you to those who contributed their goods and services in support of the auction.

Wilfrid Creighton (BScF, DSc'53) of Halifax still maintains, at the age of 99, a 560-hectare woodlot in Middle Musquodobit. Known as a father of forestry management in his native N.S., he was recognized by the Halifax Wildlife Association in June 2003 for his contribution to the forestry industry. Wilfrid served as N.S.'s chief forester from 1934-1939 and deputy minister from 1949 to 1969.

Ivan H. (Bill) Crowell (BScF, DLitt'96) of Fredericton passed away May 24, 2003. He taught at many universities during his career, and was instrumental in the establishment of the N.B. Craft School and the Kings Landing Historical Settlement. He is believed to be the first pewtersmith in Canada. After retiring from this craft, he wove tapestries for UNB and various other universities and institutions. Dr. Crowell was awarded the Order of Canada, the Queen's Silver Medal and the Queen's Golden Jubilee Medal. He is survived by several nieces and nephews, friend Shawna Hazlett and many friends.

'31

Louis (Cy) Keenan (BScEE) of Fredericton passed away April 6, 2003. He was an engineer with the City of Fredericton for 43 years. He is survived by his children and grandchildren.

'34

Harry Mallory (Class of, BA'36) of St. Andrews, N.B., passed away May 7, 2003. He is survived by his wife Pauline, children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren.

Robert (Bob) Chalmers, M.D., (BA) of

Fredericton passed away March 19, 2003, at the age of 90. He will be remembered for his accomplishments and contributions to the Fredericton sports community, especially in golf and curling. During his years at UNB and later at McGill, he played varsity hockey. He also touched the lives of many in Fredericton as he delivered more than 10,000 babies during his medical and obstetrical practice. His patients were also his friends and he gave each one his undivided attention. He would often say that his patients always came first, but in his spare time he was addicted to golf and curling. Outside of family, pets, friends, patients and sports, he was proud of his service and overseas duty as a member of the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corp from 1942-1946. He cherished his Royal Canadian Legion membership. He was predeceased in 1976 by his first wife Ruth (McDougall, BA) and his son Bob in 1994. He is survived by his wife Isabel, his two daughters, Judy Chalmers (BN'64) and Kathy Robinson (Shane, BPE'71, BN'80, MED'90), and step-children Susan Holland, Moyra Dziurda, and Robert Dickson. @

Marjorie Wright (McMurray, Class of) of Fredericton passed away May 14, 2003. She is survived by her daughter and grandchildren.

'37

James Mallory (BA, LLD'68) of Ottawa passed away June 24, 2003, at the age of 87. A native of St. Andrews, N.B., he taught political science at McGill University for 45 years, where he was named professor emeritus. He also served as chair of the McGill economics and political science departments for 10 years. He was a dominant constitutional lawyer and expert in the workings of Canadian government. Dr. Mallory passed away just 11 weeks after the death of his wife Frances on what would have been their 63rd wedding anniversary. He will be missed by his two sons and their families.

'40

John Henderson (BScF) of Fredericton died peacefully on March 29, 2003. Born in Quebec City in 1918, John was employed by Anglo-Canadian Pulp and Paper Mills Ltd. in Forestville, Saguenay County, Que., and later by the Department of Natural Resources in Fredericton until his retirement in 1983. He is survived by his wife Eva (Martin) Henderson, daughter Dawn Oakley (Henderson, BN'86) and two grandchildren, Jeffrey and Caroline Oakley, of Mississauga, Ont. @

'41

David Baird (BSc, Class of '73) of North Saanich, B.C., was awarded the GAC Neale Medal at the annual GAC-MAC-SEG conference in Vancouver on May 26, 2003. The E.R. Ward Neale Medal of the Geological Association of Canada is awarded to an individual who has made, or is making, significant contributions to the public awareness of geoscience. The award recognizes outstanding efforts to communicate and explain geoscience to the public through one or more of the following vehicles: public lectures, print or electronic media articles, school visits, elementary and secondary school educational materials, field trips, science fairs, and other public communications. @

William Brennan (BScCE) of Livonia, Mich., is still active in building specifications projects, but is starting to slow down.

Edwin (Ted) Moore (BSc) of Toronto passed away Oct. 31, 2002. Ted was a "fun-guy" who danced his way to a lifetime career in the oil business, where he was employed by Shell Oil Company and spent most of his time in Trinidad and Venezuela. He is survived by his wife Connie and three sons.

'42

Doris Weyman (Allan, BA, CFR'82) of Saint John, N.B., passed away May 24, 2003. She was predeceased by her husband, Stephen (BA). She is survived by her son, David (BBA'73) and grandchildren.

'44

Ira MacIntosh Beattie (BScCE) of Fredericton passed away on Aug. 4, 2003. He was 79. Born in 1924 in Nash Creek, N.B., he began his long relationship with UNB during the Second World War. After he received his civil engineering degree from UNB in 1944, he obtained an MSc in civil engineering from Stanford University. He joined the civil engineering department of the Faculty of Engineering at UNB in 1945. He and Professors Howard McFarlane (BScCE'43), Robert McLaughlin (BScCE'43, MScCE'59) and Albert Stevens (BScCE'47, MScCE'57) were known as "The Four Engineers," forming the nucleus of the faculty during the expansion of the department in the post-war years. Prof. Beattie took over as head of the department in 1957 and spent the rest of his career at UNB, teaching and conducting research until his retirement in 1980. He was named professor emeritus in 1985. A long-time supporter and friend of UNB, Prof. Beattie was an active alumnus and volunteer at Homecoming 2000. The Ira Beattie Discretionary Fund in Civil Engineering, which Prof. Beattie began in 1997, is a testament to his commitment to his profession and to the university which he loved. Prof. Beattie was active in professional organizations, and in business and community service. He was named a life member of the Canadian Society for Civil Engineering and was president of the Association of Professional Engineers of New Brunswick. In 1953, he was one of the founding partners of what would eventually become the ADI Group of companies. His colleagues, friends and family will miss his warm smile, quick wit and good humour. He was predeceased by his wife Gladys (Barkhouse), and is survived by his daughter Patsy Beattie-Huggan (BN'69) and her husband Lyall Huggan (BPE'68) of Charlottetown; two sons, David (BScCE'74) and his wife Lori Lynch (BScF'83) of Fredericton, and Donald (BSc'82, MSc'87) of Montreal; three grandchildren, Tamara, Christopher and Kevin; companion Vivian MacMillan; and several nieces, nephews and their children

Kathleen McAuley (MacCallum, BA) of Charlottetown passed away Dec. 30, 2001. She is survived by her husband Donald (BScF); children Sandy (BA'77), Peter (BPE'80), and Elaine; and sisters Myrtle, Jean, Elizabeth and Patricia (BT'71, BEd'83, MEd'89).

Dorothy (Monteith, BSc) and Dr. William Ayer (BSc, PhD'56) of Edmonton would like to say "hello" to all fellow 1953 graduates.

Leaving a Legacy

J. Archie Flemming's career as an educator spanned five decades. At the young age of 17, he began his teaching career in a one-room school in New Brunswick's rural Carleton County. From these rudimentary beginnings, he closed out his career at UNB Saint John as a professor of Mathematics and Statistics. Archie's commitment to education went beyond the classroom; he also served on the Saint John School Board for over 20 years. In 1983, Archie established the Jean Crawford Flemming Memorial Prize for UNBSJ students with outstanding grades in Mathematics & Statistics. His philanthropy continued upon his death in 2001 at which time he left a bequest to establish a scholarship for Computer Science students at UNBSJ.

Richard (Dick) Ballance (BScCE) has been living in or near Geneva, Switzerland, for the past 30 years, having decided to remain there after retirement from the World Health Organization in 1986. He continues to be a performing musician and has played "in the pit" for shows by the local amateur operatic society as well as being a member of one of the town bands that flourish in Europe. In the winter he becomes an active skier in the Portes du Soleil area and still manages to ski about 40 days per season. Last year, Dick saw Gordon P. (Bud) White's (BSc'53) e-mail address in Alumni News. He contacted Bud and invited him to come ski. Both enjoyed their personal 'reunion' after 50 years, and spent a lot of time reminiscing about their skiing adventures back in their student days when the ski club skied at the Royal Road hill outside Fredericton. Dick would be pleased to hear from UNB skiers from the early '50s. He can be reached at ballance@wanadoo.fr.

Glenn McEnery (BScCE) of Sackville, N.B., passed away on July 18, 2003. He was retired vice-president of Atlantic Industries Ltd., and was a life member of the Association of Professional Engineers of N.B.

Diann Etter (Wright, BA) of Edmonton lost her husband, Art, on March 21, 2003, after complications resulting from a stroke on Dec. 26, 2002. Art retired in 2002 after a wonderful 51-year career as a financial planner with Investors Group.

Pierre Fournaraki (BScCE) of Baie d'Urfe, Que., died peacefully on June 12, 2003, after a lengthy illness.

Norman Inkster (BA, LL.D.'99) of Toronto, the former commissioner of the RCMP, joined the law firm of Gowling Lafleur Henderson LLP. He, along with two colleagues, will be developing a new department of corporate security and intelligence that will deal with issues of computer fraud, physical security, and corporate intelligence.

Ian Lutes (BScME) of Basking Ridge, N.J., retired from Foster Wheeler Corp. after 32 years and has accepted a position with Alstom Power Inc. as sales director in Hartford, Conn.

Charlotte McKim (Moore, BA'71) of Saint John passed away on July 18, 2003. During her career she taught at several schools in the area. She is survived by her husband George (BA'71), children, Megan (BN'96), Darcy (BBA'02) and Ryan (BScFE'03), their partners, and one grandchild.

Allan Pressman (BA) of Ottawa is on pre-retirement leave from the CBC after 32 years with the public broadcaster. Allan started working for CBC at CBZ in Fredericton while working on his degree. His career with the CBC took him to Saskatoon, Montreal and Toronto, before moving to Ottawa in 1979 to serve as parliamentary bureau chief, a position he held for eight years. Subsequently, Allan was appointed director of television for CBC Ottawa. He also held network program responsibilities during this same tenure as director of program partnerships for CBC's arts and entertainment division. Allan brought many television projects to Canadian audiences against tough odds. During the time the CBC felt deep budget cuts, he collaborated with private-sector sponsors and public-sector partners to secure external funding for a number of national television series that would not have proceeded otherwise. Allan swears it was his stint as editor-in-chief of The Brunswickan that helped launch him into journalism and television. @

Pauline Robishaw (BN) of South Portland, Me., wishes to inform alumni of the passing of her husband, Robert Robishaw. He died suddenly on May 9, 2002, after a short illness. @

Jim Simons (BA) of St. Catharines, Ont., completed his first Atlantic crossing during the months of November and December 2002. This was successfully completed in a Swan 46, and took 16 days, 3 hours. The departure point was Las Palmas, Canary Islands, and the destination was St. Lucia. Out of 250 boats, he placed fourth in his class and 29th overall. Special thanks to Captain Ed Fudge, UNB. @

David Barry (LLB) of Saint John, N.B., has been appointed chair of the board of directors for Saint John Airport Inc. He is a former director and president of the Saint John Board of Trade and director and chair of Enterprise Saint John. He and his wife Jane have five sons and three grandchildren.

Domingo Nai Ping Chai (BScF) of Malaysia passed away on June 28, 2003, after a 10-year battle with nasopharyngeal cancer. Upon graduation from UNB, Domingo returned to Sandakan, Sabah, Malaysia, and continued working for the Sabah State Forestry Department until his early retirement in October 2000 due to illness. To his loved ones, he was a great and wonderful family man who was also mild-mannered. He enjoyed travelling the world with his family and friends. Domingo is sadly missed but always fondly remembered. He is survived by his wife Agnes, son Barnett and daughter-in-law Huyen Tran of Ottawa, daughter Cecilia (BScCS'90) and son-in-law Wilson Wang of Malaysia, and two grandsons, Ethan Chai and Warrick Wang. @

Kenneth Clifford (BScSE) of Charlotte, Tex., has started a new business, "Plan B," a wellness business for people and animals. He would like to let friends know that ranch life in south Texas is still suiting them well.

Ernest Drapeau (LLB) of Shediac, N.B., has been appointed chief justice of the New Brunswick Court of Appeal.

Mike Flannery (BSc) of Fredericton received his certified diamond grader diploma from the Antwert Diamond High Council in April 2003. Mike and his family have operated Flannery Jewellers for 25 years in the SUB at UNB, specializing in diamonds. The store continues to supply grad rings to UNB and St. Thomas students.

Vernon (James) Mooers (BA, MEd'86) of Pusan, South Korea, is not the head of any major corporations. His claim to fame is that in a year daughter Candace will be the third generation (after grandfather Lorne (BScF) in 1949) to graduate from UNB — three generations, it's traditional. Vernon's poetry collection, Gypsy Hymns, chronicles four years teaching in Africa and other travels, and he has authored the Fredericton-set cult novel (with chapters set at UNB) Briefly A Candle. He's taught in South Korea for nine years, and is currently at the National University of Education. You can hear him doing a live reading on pusanweb.com — just click on the poetryplus19 website. Other than that, he hasn't been in too much trouble. @

Ernest Taylor (BT) of Moncton, N.B., passed away April 4, 2003. He is survived by his parents, children and granddaughter.

Peter Teed (BA, BBA'75, LLB'78) of Saint John, N.B., has been accepted as a level 3B referee, Olympic and mass start, by Speed Skating Canada. This places Peter as the first such referee in Atlantic Canada. Daughter Sheena Teed, who completed her freshman year at UNBSJ, has joined the National Reserve and took officer training in Victoria.

Peter Thomson (BScF) of Liverpool, N.S., passed away April 5, 2003. He worked as industrial relations manager with Bowater Mersey Paper Company. He is survived by his wife Anne, daughter Lee, and sons Gerry (BPE'98), Donny and Bryant.

Arlyn Dawn McGee (Hoyt, BN, MA'88, DSc'97) of Fredericton passed away on Aug. 10, 2003. A nurse by choice, she leaves a legacy of caring and dedication to family, friends, patients and the profession she honored. She graduated from the Victoria Public Hospital School of Nursing in 1953, then earned her BN and MA from UNB. A Beaverbrook scholar, she was the recipient of an honorary doctor of science from UNB and gave the Convocation address at UNBSJ in 1997. She served as a research associate and on the Graduate Academic Unit of the Faculty of Nursing at UNB. An advocate and pioneer for patient's rights and the entrepreneurship of nurses, she gave freely of her professional skills, in writings, workshops and addresses. An author, her major publications included six nursing histories, and the first book written on patient's rights in the province. Her proudest accomplishment was a book of poems written when she was ill. Lifelines touched the lives of many nurses and patients. Arlee served on several provincial and national health-related boards and was an enthusiastic member of many associations, a founding member of the UNB Nursing Alumni and honorary president of the Canadian Association for the History of Nursing. She is survived by husband Raymond; children Matthew (BA'79) and his wife Philene, and Leslee Dell and her husband David (BBA'85); and grandchildren Brandon and Emily McGee and Tess Dell.

This opening scene from the 2003 CIS national hockey tournament will be repeated at the Aitken Centre again in March for the 2004 tourney.

CIS nationals again set for Aitken Centre in March

After a sell-out success its first year in Fredericton, the CIS Men's Hockey Championship is set for its second go-around the Aitken Centre March 25-28, 2004.

As hosts, the Varsity Reds again will be playing in the 2004 tourney, and tickets are now on sale. Visit the V-Reds website at www.unbf.ca/athletics/vreds/nationals/ for further information.

As was the case this year, there will be a strong alumni component to the 2004 festivities. More than 70 former UNB varsity hockey players — some from teams that played in the 1940s — returned to Fredericton last March for the tourney and a series of special events.

Of special note for the alumni attending this year's championship was the marking of 100 years of intercollegiate hockey at UNB. A hockey alumnus was selected to drop the puck at the start of each game, and the former players had a series of reunions. (See photos this page and next.) Much of the early history of the UNB varsity hockey program is to be found in the book History of Hockey in Fredericton — Part 1 1895-1945, by Ernie Fitzsimmons of Fredericton.

Last year, almost 30,000 fans filled the 3,712-seat Aitken Centre for the eight-game, six-team tournament. Because of the format set by the CIS, this year's tournament will see three of the six competing teams hail from the Atlantic conference.

Support from corporate sponsorships (see website) brought a new centre-ice clock to the Aitken Centre in March, and the provincial government provided additional financial support, as did the Associated Alumni.

And a major international conference, Skating Into the Future: Hockey in the New Millennium, hosted by the Faculty of Kinesiology attracted academics and such hockey luminaries as Ron MacLean of Hockey Night in Canada.

Athletics Director Clint Hamilton pledges the 2004 tournament will be even better than this year's. Watch the V-Reds website for more details.

Also among those alumni asked to participate in the puck drops was Ken Marchant (BPE'64) of Truro, N.B. To his left is Mike Kelly (BED'86), who coached the V-Reds hockey team to a national title in 1998.

Golfing for basketballers

Alumni hit the golf course in Janetville, Ont., in June in support of the varsity men's basketball program. Among the alumni participating were Jason Embleton, Marc Aube, Ben Kennedy, Jeff Baird, Jackie Mooney, Richard Sullivan, Richard and Tina MacKay, Mike Sherrard, Mark Newell, Brad Cormier, and men's coach Thom Gillespie.

UNB, Soccer N.B. team up on coaches

Andy Cameron (MA'01) has been named head coach, UNB women's soccer program, and Miles Pinsent head coach, UNB men's soccer program. Both Andy and Miles will become Soccer N.B. high performance coaches as part of a partnership agreement between that organization and UNB.

Athletic Director Clint Hamilton said the "qualifications of Andy and Miles combined with their strong motivation and experience in building N.B. soccer will provide a tremendous benefit to both our organizations."

Where insurance is a science
...and service, an art

†Group auto insurance rates are not applicable in the Atlantic provinces. Due to provincial legislation, our auto insurance program is not offered in British Columbia, Manitoba or Saskatchewan.

*No purchase necessary. The contest is open to residents of Canada who have reached the age of majority where they reside. The approximate value of the BMW 330Ci Cabriolet is $63,000 (vehicle may not be identical to the one shown). The contest runs from January 1st to December 31, 2003. In order to win, the entrant, selected at random, must correctly answer a mathematical skill-testing question. For the odds of winning and to learn how you can participate, see the complete rules of the Win a BMW 330Ci Cabriolet Contest at www.melochemonnex.com/unb.

The Meloche Monnex home and auto insurance program is underwritten by Security National Insurance Company.

When Linda's husband died suddenly, she had to get a second job just to keep the house.

FACT: More than 15% of Canadians between the ages of 35 and 55 don't have any life insurance.*

It's 100% of their dependents who are really at risk.

Life insurance is for the living. Your life insurance could be all that stands between your loved ones and a lifetime of need. You see, it's not really insurance ... it's groceries, utility payments, clothes, car maintenance, loan payments, rent or mortgage ... in fact, it's everything that your family depends on you for right now.

FACT: The death rate of Canadians between the ages of 30 and 49 is 5.8 per 1,000.**

If you were one of the 5.8, could your family cope financially without you?

The unthinkable can happen. Don't let your family's story be a tragic one. For their security and for your own peace of mind, find out more about the valuable and affordable Term Life, Major Accident Protection, Income Protection and Extended Health and Dental Care coverage designed for alumni of the University of New Brunswick.

FACT: In Canada, life insurance represents only 2.4% of household estate planning.***

Life insurance is an affordable way to maintain your family's net worth after you've passed away.

Consider all the payments you make on a monthly basis. Perhaps you have a mortgage, outstanding credit card balances, car loans or student loans. If you passed away and your family cashed in your assets (home, RRSP's and other investments) to pay all you owe, what would be left? Would it be enough to provide them with a suitable lifestyle? Think about it.

Thinking ahead and purchasing insurance could make all the difference for your family's financial security.
