12 Oh Happy Day!

More than 1,700 students graduated from the Fredericton campus, and more than 400 from the Saint John campus in May during spring graduation ceremonies.

18 Reunions past and future

A number of classes — 1941, 1946, 1956, to name but a few — returned to the Fredericton campus in June for reunions coinciding with the association's annual lobster boil. Meanwhile, we're making changes to our reunion program.

UNB's most-ambitious fundraising campaign, Forging Our Futures, went over the top in June . . . WAY over the top. The campaign, with an original goal of $60 million, ended up raising more than $100 million. For the full story on Forging Our Futures, see page 14.

At the Office of the UNB Associated Alumni, we care about your privacy and take the matter very seriously. We recognize that our alumni are concerned about the information we maintain and how that information is used. As the basis for our own policy, we follow Canada's Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act (PIPEDA).

First year as president a real eye-opener

Greetings once again. It is amazing to me that a year has gone by since I introduced myself to you through this magazine as the new president of the Alumni Association. A summary of the activities of the association over the past year is given in the annual report, which is included herein. It has certainly been an active year. The biggest surprise to me has been the range and diversity of the activities taken on by the association. In addition to the large social events, awards ceremonies, graduations, chapter events, etc., there are numerous other ways in which the lives of both alumni and current students are enriched by alumni support, often in conjunction with faculties or other university units. The strength of the contributions made by alumni to the incredibly successful Forging Our Futures campaign are a true testament to the pride and belief that folks have in our university.

I finished my first column, a year ago, by stating that I was looking forward to meeting many of you at various locations in New Brunswick and throughout Canada. I was not disappointed. Certainly the greatest personal reward for me over the past year has been the opportunity to meet so many of you and to listen to stories, receive advice and celebrate our common bond as UNB graduates. Once again, I would like to thank all those responsible for chapter events across the country for your gracious hospitality and friendship.

Reflecting back on the past year reinforces my gratitude to all of you out there who volunteer in one way or another in support of the association and the university. The year has also given me new respect for the efforts of the dedicated staff we are fortunate to have in the Alumni Office.

As is usual at this time of year, we will see some changes in the membership of the Association Council. As we sadly bid farewell to those who are retiring from council, we also look forward to new faces around the table and fresh ideas. Thanks to all who voted and, of course, a special thanks to all who ran for council, including those who were not successful. Conscientious councillors dedicate a lot of time and effort on your behalf and deserve a lot of credit.

Satisfying as it is to reflect on the past year, the association is also looking to the future with enthusiasm. The president's vision for UNB is still its driving force and the association continues to dedicate its efforts in support of that vision.

Previously, in this column, I mentioned that council had endorsed a proposal from UNB President John McLaughlin that would result in a more integrated approach to advancement and involve greater synergies between alumni relations, communications, development, marketing and student recruitment. I am happy to report that this proposal was later endorsed by the Board of Governors and, to this end, a chief advancement officer has been appointed. I am sure that you will all join me in welcoming an old friend, Bob Skillen, to this new position. Bob is known to many of us through his many productive years as executive director of the association. The council and staff of the association look forward to working with Bob and the other advancement units to mutual benefit.

Before closing I would like to make special mention of this magazine. It is a considerable expense to produce and mail the magazine to our membership. If you enjoy receiving the Alumni News, I would encourage you to make a voluntary contribution, however modest, to "Friends of the Alumni News" by calling 1-888-862-2586.

Once again, I encourage you to send me your advice, comments and ideas at beckett@unbsj.ca.

Online community forums a good way to keep in touch

We've added a little something to our website as yet another means of helping our alumni keep in touch with each other. How well it works will be up to you.

I'm talking about some online "community forums" we've set up. They're sort of like a chat room, sort of like a blog, but the bottom line is you can visit a particular forum, see what messages have been posted, and respond, if you like, by registering on the site. You can even create your own "topic" to elicit input on a particular area of interest to you.

Most of the forums we've established to date are directed at next year's five-year reunion classes. But one forum, called Class of 2006, First Year Out, is aimed specifically at this year's UNB Grad Class. There's usually a lot of moving around going on during a person's first year out in the world, and we hope the forum will be an easy way for 2006 grads to keep in contact, and perhaps even pass along tips about jobs, accommodations, or whatever. The more people who use it, the better it will be.

As I've mentioned, the forums are easy to use, but you'll have to see for yourself. Just visit alumni.unb.ca/forums.

As has been our practice in the fall, we present in the centre of this edition the 2005-2006 Donor Honour Roll, which recognizes those who have given their support to UNB during the past fiscal year. The UNB Associated Alumni expresses its deep appreciation to the thousands of alumni listed in the Donor Honour Roll for their firm commitment to the well-being of their alma mater.

My Secret River: Canoe Trips and Campfire Tales from New Brunswick

By Ken Corbett (BA'73, BBA'80)

Café Press (www.cafepress.com/canoenb)

ISBN: 0-9730563-0-4

The author has spent his adult life exploring the wild and not-so-wild rivers of N.B. His accounts include not only the popular well-traveled routes, such as the Miramichi and Restigouche waterways, but the lesser-known waterways deep in the back of the province's beyond, including the Magaguadavic, Piskahegan, Nashwaak, Nepisiguit and many others. This is not a how-to or where-to guide-book, but a tribute to New Brunswick's rivers and the forests through which they run. Corbett infuses his tales with reverence for the serenity and enchantment he has known in his many years spent paddling. Environmental lectures and cautionary warnings about the rivers' dangers are kept to an appropriate minimum. Corbett's collection of adventures enables the reader to share his deep attachment to the rivers of our province, and to take a front seat in his canoe as he unlocks their legends and secrets.

Driven by curiosity about her own intense friendships and soul-to-soul connections, Dianne Hicks Morrow asked these questions of 27 fascinating Atlantic Canadians from all walks of life. In Kindred Spirits, personalities as diverse as UNB graduates Sheree Fitch, Anne Farnell Baker, Elaine Fowler Casey and Maitland MacIsaac, former UNB Dean of Law Wade MacLauchlan (current president of UPEI) — and photographer Freeman Patterson, composer Norman Campbell, lyricist Elaine Campbell, theatre director Duncan McIntosh, comedian dentist Marina Sexton, country doctor Jim Bowen, United Church minister Elizabeth Stevenson, writer Deirdre Kessler, dog expert Orysia Dawydiak, and actor Deb Allen — all reveal their passionate connections to the people, places, and animals that inspire their deepest trust, their most intimate contact, and their unconditional love. Kindred Spirits explores all aspects of the kindred spirit relationship, whether from across a room in a shared home or across great time and distance.

First and Goal: The CFL & The Pursuit of Excellence

By Tony Proudfoot (BPE'71) and Ted Wall

Fenn

ISBN 1551683164

Tony Proudfoot, CFL veteran and sports broadcaster, is fascinated by the qualities that separate ordinary players from the very best. His conversations with some of the game's former and current stars show that these athletes share a number of characteristics: self-confidence that sometimes approaches arrogance, consistency born from obsessive determination, and the willingness to take risks. But more than this, Proudfoot finds that the game's great players have an uncanny ability to anticipate what's going to happen on the field. This game-day clairvoyance, the players say, is not a gift, but a skill that can be acquired through years of training. In this illustrated book, Proudfoot takes the reader inside the Canadian game to discover the fine points that give great players and teams their winning edge. Dozens of current and former stars have given Proudfoot extended, candid interviews. The result is a uniquely informed, and entertaining look at how these and other great players are able to excel in the CFL.

Fond memories of Winter Carnival '67

IN years past, Winter Carnival at UNB/STU was celebrated with the construction of an ice castle on the football field beside the gym. A contest was held among engineering students to attract the best design for the ice castle, and a beer stein was awarded to the winner. The castle itself was constructed using blocks of ice and a crane donated by local businesses. Engineering students and others supplied the labour. The castle was then the centre of the carnival opening ceremonies.

In 1967, I was in charge of the design selection committee and construction of the castle, along with a group of students — Wayne Spino, Don Thompson, Bill Hand, Ted Ruiter, to name but a few. From the designs we received, one was well above all others and was submitted by Prof. Eric Garland. He said he had an idea for an appropriate design to fit with carnival and Canada's Centennial.

The castle we built from his design was a large maple leaf some 16 feet high, free standing, with a raised ice stage in front. On the right front corner of the stage we built in a propane tank that had a flame burning above the ice. This was lit opening night and burned throughout carnival. Spotlights were placed to strategically light up the entire castle, and it was awesome.

Prof. Garland was a unique professor for us in engineering. He introduced us to a real-world engineering environment, both in the way he presented exams to us in our structures course and outside the university by holding, with his wife, a cocktail party at his home to introduce us to the kind of gatherings we would be attending as graduate engineers. It was excellent in setting us up for the future.

Prof. Garland did not submit the design to win anything, and refused to accept the stein or have his name attached to the design. He then asked that we award the stein to the runner up, which wasn't appropriate given the engraving "Winner." Therefore, I kept the cup all these years.

As for Winter Carnival, on a cold winter night with all the students around, it was a unique and amazing spectacle. What a time it was!

Jim Anderson (BSCE'67)
Tobermory, Ont.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Anderson has donated the stein to UNB, and it is now in the UNB Archives.

CEL awarded national honors

The College of Extended Learning (CEL) at UNB Fredericton has been recognized for excellence in program development and marketing. CEL was presented with two national awards by the Canadian Association for University Continuing Education (CAUCE) at the association's annual conference in Toronto. "I am pleased to have this acknowledgement by our peers in the continuing education community," said Judith Potter, executive director of CEL. "To be recognized for the world-class quality work being done here at UNB is a mark of CEL's success." CEL's Autism Intervention Training Program was selected in the local/regional program category. The bilingual program is offered in conjunction with the N.B. Departments of Education, and Family and Community Services, and UNBF's faculty of arts. It provides training for clinical supervisors, support workers, and parents of children with autism spectrum disorders. CEL also received the marketing excellence award in the pamphlet/flyer category for its Archaeological Field School in Belize Travel Study Program flyer. The program is offered in conjunction with UNBF's faculty of arts. The piece, which is both a brochure and a poster, was selected for its clear and concise design and writing, and its effective layout. From left, Belinda Elliott, manager of marketing and promotions, Judith Potter, and Sheila Burt, team lead, display the awards.

Social sciences research funding awarded

Social science research at UNB is addressing topics ranging from workplace bullying to the influence of internet video communication.

Five research projects were awarded a total of $375,138 by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada (SSHRC). Every year, SSHRC funds leading-edge research in the social sciences and humanities at universities and colleges across the country. To ensure only the best projects receive funding, each application is evaluated by a team of independent experts for academic excellence and importance.

At UNB, this year's largest SSHRC Standard Research Grant — $96,015 — went to Susan O'Donnell of the department of sociology in Fredericton for her project Video Communication on Broadband: Social Inclusion & Citizen Engagement. She will look at the use of video communication via high-speed internet by people in aboriginal, remote and peripheral communities.

Judith Wuest of the faculty of nursing in Fredericton was awarded $90,636 for her project Evolution in the Intimate Relationship as Male Partners become Non-Abusive. Understanding how non-violence can be achieved in a previously abusive relationship is the ultimate goal of Dr. Wuest's research.

Jeff Frooman of the faculty of business in Saint John received $69,173 for Doing Good vs. Doing Well: The Link between Corporate Social Performance & Corporate Financial Performance. Dr. Frooman will examine if there is a financial incentive for firms to be socially responsible. Judith MacIntosh of the faculty of nursing at UNB Fredericton received $68,611 for the project Effects of Workplace Bullying on Women's Patterns of Engagement in the Work Force. Her study will expand our knowledge of how work place bullying influences whether, when, where and for how long women work.

Gary Waite of the department of history at UNB Fredericton was awarded $50,703 for The Religious Other in the 17th Century: Popular Attitudes toward Jews & Muslims in Western Europe 1580-1720. His research will explore the conditions that shape attitudes that support religious tolerance.

Skillen returns to advancement

A face familiar to many UNB alumni is once again front and centre in the university's advancement efforts.

Robert Skillen (BPE'79, BEd'81, MEd'89), former executive director of the UNB Associated Alumni, has been named the university's first Chief Advancement Officer (CAO).

"We are very pleased with this appointment," said UNB President John McLaughlin. "Bob demonstrates high integrity, supports the university's mission, and has a passion for its programs and people. He brings to this position a richness of experiences and relationships that will benefit UNB greatly."

A recent external audit of UNB's advancement activities provided the university with an opportunity to review its advancement portfolio. The audit recommended the creation of a senior position for university advancement that would provide a new level of focused executive leadership.

Reporting to the president, the CAO is responsible for all aspects of university advancement, including but not limited to, alumni relations, integrated marketing, communications, public relations, fundraising, government relations, and student recruitment. Mr. Skillen's portfolio will include the Advancement Office at UNB Saint John, and the offices of the Associated Alumni, Development and Donor Relations, and Student Recruitment and Integrated Marketing at UNB Fredericton.

As CAO, he will develop a strategy for advancement that supports and furthers UNB's academic plans and priorities and enhances its stature as a national university. He will also be a key member of the senior management team and the primary liaison to the external relations committee of the Board of Governors.

Mr. Skillen began his UNB career in 1990 as association executive director. In 2001, he left to become president of Greenarm Management Ltd. He returned to UNB in 2005 as special project manager responsible for a number of projects, including the University Commons at UNBSJ and the Healthy Living Village and Healthy Living Initiative at UNBF. He was a member of the Forging Our Futures campaign cabinet.

"I've had a long and happy relationship with UNB since stepping foot inside the university gates more than 30 years ago," said Mr. Skillen. "I am very excited to be back and contribute to the success and the future of the university."

UNBSJ residence named after Colin B. Mackay

UNB Chancellor Richard Currie cuts the ribbon at the official naming of the Dr. Colin B. Mackay Residence at UNB Saint John. Joining him are UNB President John McLaughlin, and UNB Saint John Vice-President Kathy Hamer. Opened in 2003, the 170-bed residence has been named in honour of the man who served as UNB's president from 1953 to 1969. Dr. Mackay passed away in 2003, bequeathing $6 million to UNB. "Colin B. Mackay played such a large role in the creation of UNB Saint John that it only seems fitting there should be a building here named in his honour," said Dr. McLaughlin.

UNB joins other universities in opting out of Maclean's survey

UNB is among a growing number of universities to opt out of the Maclean's university ranking survey.

"We have decided not to participate in the Maclean's ranking survey," said UNB President John McLaughlin.

"Although UNB has performed well in the rankings, the decision by so many universities to opt out puts into question the credibility of the ranking. We support accountability and assessment of our university and its programs and services, and will continue to practise in that manner and be forthcoming with our results."

UNB measures its performance in a number of areas, including academic programs, student success, curriculum, teaching, student satisfaction, and research. The university regularly participates in a number of independent surveys, including the National Survey of Student Engagement, the Canadian Undergraduate Survey Consortium, and Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission surveys.

Close to 50 per cent of the universities that have taken part in the annual Maclean's survey have withdrawn. They include UofT, McMaster, Ottawa, UBC, Simon Fraser, Alberta, Calgary, Lethbridge, Manitoba, l'Université de Montréal, Dalhousie, Brandon, Brock, Laurentian, Moncton, Trent, Carleton, Concordia, Queen's, Windsor, York, Western Ontario, and UNB.

Long-time faculty, staff retire

Every year, UNB loses dozens of faculty and staff to retirement. This year is no different. And because many of our retirees on both campuses are well-known to many of our alumni, we thought this year we'd print the names of our 2005-06 retirees. The lists were supplied by the organizers of a June retirement dinner for Fredericton employees, and by the Alumni Office at UNBSJ.

Professor named research chair in child development

Raising a child is a complex challenge for parents, fuelled by numerous obstacles and opportunities.

A professor at UNB Fredericton will explore how supporting parents can promote the optimal development of children, particularly in families affected by maternal depression and family violence.

Nicole Letourneau is the Canada Research Chair in Healthy Child Development at UNBF. She will delve into those complexities of raising children and conduct key research on interventions for families affected by post-partum depression and domestic violence.

She is interested in understanding how parental care-giving environments promote or threaten children's optimal neurological development and long-term success.

Dr. Letourneau, an associate professor in the faculty of nursing and a research fellow with the Canadian Research Institute for Social Policy (CRISP), was one of 90 Canada Research Chairs named by the Federal Government, part of a $66.9-million investment nation-wide.

"My research involves designing and testing interventions that promote the healthy development of children vulnerable to less than optimal outcomes," said Dr. Letourneau. "The research will contribute to basic understanding of the link between early care-giving experiences and children's development."

Dr. Letourneau graduated from UNBF with a bachelor of nursing degree in 1991. Her key areas of interest are vulnerable children, social support, parent and infant/child relationships, maternal mental health and domestic abuse.

As a Tier II Canada Research Chair, Dr. Letourneau will receive $500,000 over five years. She also received a one-year grant of $74,773 from the Canadian Foundation for Innovation (CFI). The grant is for laboratory infrastructure to support her chair.

After 25 years at UNB, culminating with the $100-million success of the Forging Our Futures campaign, Susan Montague has stepped down as the director of development and donor relations.

Since her appointment as director in 1987, Ms. Montague played a key role in securing more than $150 million dollars in charitable contributions for the institution. She managed both the Venture Campaign, which exceeded its $30-million goal by more than $10 million, and Forging Our Futures, as well as the university's annual giving program.

A trusted adviser to four UNB presidents and a member of the university's senior executive group, Ms. Montague was seconded from her directorship in 1998-99 to provide direction and leadership to UNB's Renewal Process, which developed a new vision and an action agenda for the university.

She is also the author of A Pictorial History of the University of New Brunswick, a 300-page volume that explores UNB's growth and historical richness.

She also devoted countless hours to the work of the Associated Alumni and has been a forceful advocate on its behalf. In recognition of this, she was granted Honorary Membership in the UNB Associated Alumni in 2003.

A graduate of Bryn Mawr College and the University of Pennsylvania, Ms. Montague began her career at UNB in 1981 as a publications associate in the Department of Public Relations and Information. She soon became an information officer and editor of UNB Perspectives, and by 1984 was director of the department. She was appointed director of development in 1987.

Ms. Montague returned to UNB in September in a new role as senior adviser for advancement.

Another balanced budget for ninth straight year

The UNB Board of Governors has approved a $156.4-million operating budget for the institution's 2006-07 fiscal year. The budget represents an increase of $6.2 million or 4.13 per cent over 2005-06.

"Despite significant challenges, including the impact of rising utility and fuel costs, we have a balanced budget for the ninth year in a row," said UNB President John McLaughlin. "Our primary goal is to sustain and further UNB's role as a national university. To achieve this we're continuing to invest in our priority areas: our people, our programs, and our learning environment.

"We're investing in students with over $700,000 in new funding for scholarships, graduate student support and other student services. This brings the three-year increase in these areas to more than $1.8 million."

For 2006-07, UNB will derive 55.79 per cent of its operating revenue from the provincial operating grant. Tuition will comprise 37.5 per cent and 6.71 per cent will be received from other sources.

UNB's basic tuition fee for full-time undergraduate students will increase for 2006-07 by 4.75 per cent or $238, from $5,008 to $5,246.

"This is the lowest percentage increase at UNB in the last seven years and the third lowest increase in the last 25 years," said Dr. McLaughlin. UNB's tuition fees are currently among the lowest in the region, ranking 13th out of the 16 Maritime universities for 2005-06. Tuition fees for graduate students will also increase by 4.75 per cent.

To maintain its high-quality, nationally-accredited engineering programs, UNB is introducing an engineering tuition differential fee of $600. This will bring undergraduate engineering tuition to $5,846 for 2006-07, which is comparable with other engineering schools in the country. The income from the differential fee will directly benefit engineering students, beginning in 2006-07, with classroom, lab and library upgrades; new equipment; and support for personnel in key areas.

The tuition for new students entering UNB's law school will increase $1,326, from $7,320 to $8,646, which is lower than the tuition at most Canadian law schools. The additional income will be used for program improvements approved by the Law Faculty Council.

The supplementary fee for international students, which is added to basic tuition, will remain constant at $3,888 for graduate students for the fifth year in a row. For undergraduates, it will increase by 4.75 per cent, from $5,130 to $5,374.

The Board of Governors also approved a $20-million capital budget, which includes $8.9 million for infrastructure renewal on both campuses — $450,000 of which will be dedicated to accessibility projects — and $8.6 million for a new apartment-style residence in Fredericton.

McLaughlin recommended for second term

The UNB Board of Governors, Fredericton Senate and Saint John Senate have voted overwhelmingly in favour of reappointing John McLaughlin, UNB's 17th president and vice-chancellor, to a second five-year term.

The reappointment must now be approved by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council.

Dr. McLaughlin was first appointed president for a five-year term commencing July 1, 2002. His reappointment for a second five-year term would begin on July 1, 2007 and conclude in 2012.

Dr. McLaughlin holds a BSc and an MSc in surveying engineering from UNB. He earned a PhD from the University of Wisconsin. He served for many years in the faculty of engineering at UNB, as a department chair and as a vice-president before assuming the presidency. He is a world-recognized expert in land management and land registration issues.

Forging Our Futures tops $100 million

*Bi-campus celebration
held to thank campaign's
14,000 donors*

The Forging Our Futures campaign has become the largest fundraising project in the history of Atlantic Canada. The campaign has reached a total of $100 million, exceeding its original target by $40 million.

The announcement was made on June 26 at

Thanks To You Day, a special bi-campus event to honour the campaign's more than 14,000 donors.

"The success of this campaign is a tribute to our 14,000 donors," said UNB President John McLaughlin. "We shared with them our vision of UNB as a vibrant, innovative national university. From across the country, the United States and Asia, our donors stepped up to embrace that idea and make it their own. I can't thank them enough for all they have done for this university."

During the planning phase of the campaign, it was suggested by a consultant that only a $60-million goal was attainable. The campaign was publicly launched just more than a year ago with a goal of $80 million. At that time, the total raised stood at $50 million, including $10 million from the Province of New Brunswick. The campaign's subsequent success earned it a second $10-million contribution from the province. Earlier this year, the campaign met its $80-million target and kept on going.

To date, Forging Our Futures has raised $25 million for scholarships, bursaries, prizes and study abroad awards for students; more than $7 million for targeted research centres and institutes; nearly $6 million for chairs and professorships; and more than $5 million for libraries. The University Commons in Saint John and the Richard J. CURRIE CENTER in Fredericton received $40 million. As well, $6.8 million was pledged in undesignated support and a further $8 million was pledged for projects designed by our donors for the benefit of the university.

Thanks To You Day began with two groundbreakings — the University Commons in Saint John and the Richard J. CURRIE CENTER, part of the Health Living Village, in Fredericton.

The University Commons is the pivotal building in the campus plan expansion for UNB Saint John. A library at its core, it will be centrally located and will provide an enriched learning environment that is attractive to students and faculty alike. The Commons will also serve the wider community and enhance the role of the university as a partner in the economic and cultural development of the Saint John region.

John,” said Kathryn Hamer, vice-president (Saint John). “It will provide flexible and multifunctional access to information in all its forms and provide space for dialogue and exchange of ideas.”

The Richard J. CURRIE CENTER, named in honour of UNB’s chancellor, who provided leadership support for the facility, will house gymnasiums capable of hosting high-performance sporting events and recreational activities.

It will have the capacity to be converted to ceremonial or meeting spaces, and will be home to UNB Fredericton’s recreation programs, the Varsity Reds, graduation and commencement ceremonies, and gatherings of all kinds. It will be the anchor building in the Healthy Living Village, a multi-sectoral project that will bring together academia, private sector,

“As a native New Brunswicker and as chancellor of this historic university, it is with great pleasure and considerable pride that I make this gift,” said Dr. Currie. “The CURRIE CENTER will be the anchor building for the planned Healthy Living Village and will be the focal point for the Healthy Living Initiative, UNB’s ambitious and far-reaching program to help New Brunswick become not only Canada’s only officially bilingual province but Canada’s health leader as well.”

A number of other major gifts were announced at

It will house new laboratories, project rooms and classrooms, and provide faculty and students with new state-of-the-art equipment. Mr. Quartermain has been the president of Silver Standard Resources Inc. since 1985. He graduated from UNB in 1977 with a bachelor of science in geology degree.

A $1.5-million gift from the City of Fredericton was also announced, further strengthening a relationship that is as old as the university itself. The city has always been a strong supporter of UNB, having made a $500,000 donation the UNB libraries during The Venture Campaign more than a decade ago.

Also announced during Thanks To You Day was a gift of $100,000 from Potash Corporation of Saskatchewan Inc., supporting UNB Saint John's University Commons.

Earlier in June, a number of gifts were announced, including a $1-million gift from J.D. Irving Limited and a $1-million donation from Irving Oil. Both will benefit students at UNB Saint John. Also announcing a gift in June was TD Bank Financial Group, which gave $400,000 to create a new bursary program. In May, the campaign celebrated a $2-million gift from Wallace and Margaret McCain to create the G. Wallace F. McCain Institute for Business Leadership. And in April, a special gift of $800,000 by John Sharpe was announced. Mr. Sharpe's donation is supporting 40 students for four years of their UNB engineering program.

PEOPLE

Support for our Students

The campaign will attract and support the very best students from New Brunswick and Canada through Undergraduate Scholarships for full-time or part-time students. It will also keep UNB's research programs strong by investing in graduate scholarships. And it will send students around the world to develop skills and contacts in international settings through the UNB Study Abroad program.

Support for our Faculty

The campaign will help retain top professors and researchers, offer new programs relevant to our students and enhance UNB's national standing as a leader in attracting first-class scholars from around the world.

PLACES

UNB Saint John University Commons

A library at its core, it will be centrally located and will play a pivotal role in stimulating campus growth and expansion by providing an environment that is attractive to students and faculty alike. The Commons will also serve the wider community and enhance the role of the university as a partner in the economic and cultural development of the Saint John region.

UNB Fredericton Healthy Living Village

The Healthy Living Village is a multi-sectoral project that will have far-reaching implications for the health of New Brunswickers. It will comprise a number of buildings on Buchanan Hill, next to the Lady Beaverbrook Gymnasium. The village is designed to address the impending crisis in Canadian healthcare by developing proactive and preventive strategies in place of reactive interventions. To this end, the village will create a "living laboratory" for transforming the health of all New Brunswickers. The village will build a network of community organizations united in promoting health and wellness. It will seek to prevent chronic illness among those who have not yet experienced the effects of poor lifestyle choices and to minimize its effects among those who have.

ASSOCIATION ACTIVITIES — REUNIONS

REUNION 2006 RECAP

Reunion Weekend in June saw several class and faculty groups come to the Fredericton campus to celebrate the 50th anniversary of our UNB flag.

The classes of 1941 and 1946, led by Becky Watson and Eileen Nason Cambon, respectively, enjoyed a wine and cheese at the home of the president and a joint luncheon at LBR. The class of 1956, led by Robert Hawkes and Dana Wasson, got together for the President's Golden Grad Breakfast and a class dinner at LBR.

The Class of 1961, led by Brian Barnes and Paul Blanchet, enjoyed a dinner off campus, while the Classes of 1976 (Moir Adams and Warren McKenzie), 1981 (Doug Moore) and 1996 (Daina Debly Kumaranayake) attended a combined evening at the College Hill Social Club.

Computer Science, led by Beverley Plume and Tom Austin, celebrated the 25th anniversary of the Co-op Program with an event at the Social Club. The Chemical Engineers of 1966, led by Dave Besner and Dave MacRae, attended a brunch and a barbecue. Civil Engineering 1976, led by Andrew Steeves, and Mechanical Engineering 1976, led by Jim Halls, had events off campus, while Forestry 1976, led by Duncan Kelbaugh, enjoyed a social Saturday afternoon at the Forestry Building.

Many alumni from these groups had a jolly time at the Friday night Lobster Boil and Silent Auction. A record $2,432 was raised for scholarships.

In August, Forestry 1981, led by Kathy Tosh, came back for a weekend that included a barbecue, brunch, family activities, a tree planting and an afternoon with professors at the Forestry Building. Law 1996, led by Jonathan Lazar and Brenda Roberts-Harmon, enjoyed a brunch and two dinners off campus, and met with professors at Ludlow Hall. A group of residence dwellers, RezReunion, led by Daphne Noonan and James LaBillois, got together for a weekend of reminiscences and relaxation.

The alumni staff joins all participants of UNB Reunions 2006 in thanking the reunion organizers for their time, energy and interest in helping to create memorable events for their classmates.

Reunion Weekend 2007, a new date, a new look

In April 2006, Alumni Council approved the relocation of Reunion Weekend to the first weekend after the long weekend in July. In 2007, the weekend of July 6 to 8 has been named UNB Alumni Reunion Weekend.

At UNB, every five-year milestone is reason for celebration! In 2007, that would translate to be every class whose graduation year ends in a “2” or a “7.” The Class of 1957 will be our Golden Grad class.

The class of 1982, celebrating its 25th anniversary, will be the starting point for our new welcome back strategy. Letters have gone to all appropriate class executive members, inviting them to begin planning for their milestone reunion in 2007. Reunion co-ordinator Barb MacMullin will also engage energetic faculty leaders within that graduating class, and the classes of '87, '92, '97 and '02, to invite their classmates back to campus for a small group event during Reunion Weekend.

The School of Physical Education opened its doors in 1957. The reunion co-ordinator will seek energetic leaders for each physical education/kinesiology class since 1960 — the first Encaenia that included BPE graduates. Celebration of the faculty's 50th anniversary will be a highlight of Reunion Weekend '07.

Reunion Weekend '07 will feature the traditional Lobster Boil and Silent Auction on Friday, July 6. A full lineup of general activities will be available soon.

If you are a member of any of these milestone classes, please mark the weekend on your calendar. More information will be forthcoming. Check the UNB Alumni website often at alumni.unb.ca.

Remember, keep your EFL accounts updated

Thousands of you have taken advantage of our free alumni E-Mail Forwarding for Life (EFL) service. But it's vital that all users keep their EFL accounts updated with their current Mail Destination address, the one to which you want your EFL messages sent. To ensure your account is current, please take a moment to visit your EFL file at alumni.unb.ca/efl.html.

Have you joined YOUR alumni branch yet . . . ?

No? There is a reason for that: the UNB Football Alumni Branch is currently the only official branch. Let's resolve this issue by forming branches for any of several varieties of alumni interest groups including residences, sports, clubs/activities, and affinity groups such as the Student Union and The Brunswickan. Clearly the myriad social aspects of organizing/joining a branch are attractive to many alumni; however, opportunities for effective advocacy on behalf of UNB and timely advisory roles are factors to consider, as well.

Besides benefits of connection and communication with kindred spirits, development of branch status for your interest group will allow other perks to come your way:

- UNB alumni branch banner
- Annual event at Reunion Weekend
- Banner near designated branch tables at Lobster Boil
- Administrative assistance for off-campus branch events
- Opportunity to participate in planning of alumni receptions
- Information on upcoming Outreach speaker series events in your area

- Information on upcoming Outreach social events in your area
- Outreach newsletter
- Online survey and event registration tool
- Staff and leadership support
- Participation in Outreach volunteer areas: Community Contact; Career Network; Game Watch; Recruitment Volunteer; Local Organizer.

Contact Barb MacMullin, reunions and special events co-ordinator, 506-447-3371 or reunions@unb.ca, for more information on this exciting development in UNB alumni affairs.

Association awarded prestigious fellowship

UNB and the UNB Associated Alumni have received one of three prestigious TD Meloche Monnex (TDMM)/Canadian Council for the Advancement of Education (CCAЕ) Advancement Fellowships for 2006-2007. The individual serving as the fellow for the one-year period is Fiona Munroe of Nackawic, N.B.

At the Canadian Council for the Advancement of Education national conference in Ottawa in June, Fiona Munro (BBA'06) accepts her TD Meloche Monnex Fellowship from Chris Daniel, left, the company's chairman, affinity market group, and Jean Lachance, executive chairman, affinity market group.

Ms. Munroe graduated from UNB in May with a BBA degree, majoring in accounting. She was named to the Dean's List every year and was the recipient of two major scholarships. For the past three years, Ms. Munroe has been a peer mentor to first-year business students.

As the TDMM Fellow, Ms. Munroe will be concentrating on two major projects: 2006-2007 graduating class co-ordination and UNB volunteer training workshops.

The Associated Alumni has always played a part in the UNBF grad class experience. Ms. Munroe will lead a project that will see all aspects of the grad class experience co-ordinated through the UNB Associated Alumni. By taking the lead, the association hopes to increase awareness of its activities among students (future alumni), to create a stronger connection between the Associated Alumni and UNB's graduating students, and help ensure a positive student experience at UNB.

The second project will take UNB on the road across N.B. and Canada. The volunteer training workshop program will enhance communications with current and prospective volunteers, promote the university, and educate volunteers/prospects about the various changes taking place at the university.

Ms. Munroe is no stranger to the UNB Associated Alumni or the area of advancement. She has been employed part-time by the Associated Alumni for the past two years. In her first position, Ms. Munroe provided support for the Homecoming 2005 volunteers and office staff, assisting with registration, small-group co-ordination, and volunteer support. Between September 2005 and April 2006 she remained with the Alumni Office, switching her focus to the alumni educators database and a web research project. These positions provided her with a solid understanding of the advancement model and the role the Associated Alumni plays in creating and nurturing relationships with alumni.

The TDMM/CCAЕ Fellowship program began in 1999 with a goal of recruiting and training alumni professionals in Canada. The UNB Associated Alumni received one of those first fellowships, awarded to Athena Kreiner (Lefevre, BPE'99). In 2003 the scope of the fellowship program was expanded to cover educational advancement in a broader sense. TDMM and CCAЕ share a long-term commitment to support education and partner together to foster educational excellence in Canada.

Ms. Munroe began her one-year fellowship on June 1, and travelled to the 2006 CCAЕ National Conference in Ottawa, where she was introduced, along with the other 2006-2007 fellows from Memorial University of Newfoundland and Mount Royal College, to more than 400 delegates.

A taste of . . .

The Associated Alumni has discovered in recent months that catering to our alumni's taste buds seems to bring out the crowds, regardless of campus. Here are three examples:

. . . chocolate . . .

Greg Fallon, vice-president, manufacturing with Ganong Bros. Ltd. in St. Stephen, N.B., took Fredericton-area alumni through the intricacies of chocolate during a chocolate-tasting session. There were plenty of samples, of course. And by the way, that's a 10-kg block of chocolate sitting on the table.

. . . and beer

Young alumni in Fredericton got to taste the hops during a beer-tasting session in the spring at BrewBaker's pub.

ASSOCIATION ACTIVITIES

Four elected, three named to Alumni Council

Four candidates were elected to Alumni Council during the association's spring elections.

Elected were Mary Ellen McKinney, RN (BBA'77, BN'00) of Fredericton, Heather Neilson (Whyte, BPE'72) of Fredericton, Jim Simons (BA'71) of St. Catharines, Ont., and Misty Wade Hovey (BBA'02) of Ottawa.

As well, three individuals were appointed to council, effective July 1. They were Peter Jolly (BScCE'60) of Rothesay, N.B., Aaron McIntosh (BBA'97, BA'00) of Toronto, and Kelly Nagle (BOM'00) of Moncton, N.B.

The Associated Alumni expresses its appreciation to the almost 1,000 alumni who voted in the spring election, an all-time record by far.

Washington alumni join other Canadians

This past April, more than 150 alumni from Canadian universities gathered in Washington, D.C., for the 30th annual All-Canada Alumni Event, hosted by Bishop's University and co-sponsored by the All-Canada University Association Washington, D.C., area.

Opening remarks were delivered by Dr. Robert Poupart, principal and vice-chancellor of Bishop's, while former Prime Minister Joe Clark was guest speaker. Also present was Michael Wilson, Canadian ambassador to the U.S. Great conversation over a very tasty meal resulted in a wonderful evening. If you wish to receive an invitation to next year's gathering, please forward your details to Donnalouise C. Watts at dcwatts@hotmail.com.

The Washington area was also in full swing on July 1 to celebrate Canada Day. ASSOCIATION ACTIVITIES

Edmonton-area alumni turned out in their usual large numbers for the chapter's annual lobster boil in May. The event, with a capacity of 100, was sold out, a situation that's become the norm for one of our most active chapters.

Visit our online community forums

In an effort to enhance alumni-to-alumni communications among our membership, the association has established a new "community forum" service on our website.

The forums have been established on the basis of communities of interest, and right now the target audiences for most of them are those alumni celebrating a five-year reunion anniversary in 2007. Thus there are overall forums for each five-year grad class from 1957 through 2002. As well, separate forums have been set up by faculty and five-year reunion criteria.

We have also established a Class of 2006 forum designed to help this year's graduates keep in touch with one another during that sometimes hectic first year out in the "world."

The forums are easy to use. Anyone can read the posts. Should you want to post to a forum, you will have to register (look for the "Register" link at the top of the appropriate page). Registering will also allow you to start a new "Topic" on a forum, such as "Anyone moving to Calgary?"

We encourage you to visit the new site at alumni.unb.ca/forums, and please, let us know if you would like a new forum established that reflects your interests.

UNB ASSOCIATED ALUMNI

ANNUAL REPORT

July 2005 — June 2006

A Message from the President Barry Beckett

What an exciting first year as President it has been! From that first event (which happened to be addressing 1,100 people at the Homecoming 2005 Lobster Boil) to the remarkable 'Thanks to You' Day celebration of the Forging Our Futures campaign, the Associated Alumni has been busy in a number of different ways.

There are a great many highlights – far too many for me to write about in this annual report. Homecoming 2005 was a grand event that brought hundreds of alumni back to the Fredericton campus. Held for the first time during Homecoming was the Proudly UNB Awards celebration. The expanded awards program provides new opportunities for the Association and the university to recognize truly outstanding graduates. Always exciting are those activities that celebrate current students, culminating in the graduation exercises marking the transition to alumni. Chapter activities continue to flourish and expand.

Led by the drive and determination of strong volunteers and staff, UNB was able to raise more than $100 million during the Forging Our Futures campaign. This figure has never been reached before in Atlantic Canada and the 14,000 donors provided support for people, programs and places. Ground was broken in both Saint John and Fredericton on new buildings that will dramatically change UNB's campuses.

So many individuals devote their time and talent in support of the Association's work. Volunteers play important roles around the world and as leaders on Alumni Council. My personal thanks to everyone who contributes to the Association – your contribution is greatly appreciated.

UNB's Law School is one of the top 5 in Canada

Increased Alumni Activities

Regardless of where UNB alumni live, regardless of faculty of graduation, and regardless of UNB administration participation, the Associated Alumni has engaged more and more alumni in events and activities over the past year.

The Faculty Outreach Program expanded and participation increased in 2005-2006. Close to 70 per cent of participants were attending their first UNB or Association event. Traditional events and reunion gatherings happened around the world and new alumni gatherings took place in Kuching, Malaysia, Winnipeg, St. Catharines, and Port of Spain (Trinidad).

However, with close to 45 per cent of UNB alumni living in New Brunswick, there was no need to go far to engage alumni. Alumni activities took place in Fredericton, Dalhousie, Miramichi, Moncton and Saint John.

The Association Office has introduced many new and creative ideas with a focus on certain demographic groups. The result has been a steady increase in the number of 'active' alumni (as defined by certain participation criteria), with the target of an eight per cent increase over the next year.

With innovative and creative ideas, strong alumni volunteer support and a clear focus where the majority of alumni reside (New Brunswick), it is with confidence that the Association aims to achieve its objectives.

Homecoming 2005 Under the Big Tent

Under the Big Tent on Chapman Field, in the Aitken University Centre, across the entire Fredericton campus, and all over the City of Fredericton more than 1,500 alumni and guests made Homecoming 2005 a great success.

Regardless of the event, everyone seemed to enjoy themselves. The atmosphere was fantastic – as was the weather which broke clear for the three (3) Homecoming days (it rained before and after). Volunteers were the key to success, with hundreds pitching in wherever and whenever they were needed. Special thanks go to the organizing committee members: Mary Ellen McKinney, Margot Russell, Larry Guitard, Margie Gregg, Barb MacMullin, Milt Thomas, Wolfgang Faig, Kathy Mac Farlane, and Dave Morell.

JULY 28 - 31, 2005

UNB's Creative Writing program is ranked among the top 3 in Canada.

Alumni Reunions at UNB Looking to the future

At its April 2006 meeting, Alumni Council supported a Task Force recommendation to return to an annual Alumni Reunion Weekend. The large Homecoming events of 2000 and 2005 were a great success, but alumni with grad years ending without a '0' or '5' were feeling cheated.

So beginning in 2007, the Association will host the annual Alumni Reunion Weekend on the weekend following the July 1 holiday (Canada Day), with special emphasis on milestone reunion years that are multiples of 5, i.e. 2007 – years ending in '2' and '7'; 2008 – years ending in '3' and '8'; 2009 – years ending in '4' and '9'.

The goal is to bring back to UNB Fredericton between 500-700 alumni and guests for this celebratory weekend. Class, residence, clubs, societies and any other type of student group leader will be called upon to assist with this effort.

Who knows, perhaps in a few years a big tent will be needed every year!

2005-2006 Alumni Challenge Andy Devereaux matches funds

In the middle of the successful Forging Our Futures capital campaign, the Associated Alumni, using funds provided by alumnus Dr. W. Andy Devereaux (BScEE'71, BA'73, DLitt'98) launched a special matching gift initiative.

The first 100 alumni to make donations totalling $1,000 between September 1, 2005, and December 31, 2006, had their gift matched dollar for dollar by the UNB Associated Alumni, using funds from the Devereaux Trust Fund. Both the donations and match would be directed as the donor intended.

In just six months, the $100,000 (Cdn) available through the Devereaux Fund was completely allocated. It was a clear signal of the financial commitment and devotion alumni have for their alma mater, but also the power of matching funds. All the monies were counted in the Forging Our Futures campaign total ($101 million) announced at the end of June 2006.

The Association thanks Dr Devereaux for supporting the Alumni Challenge initiative and the 100 donors that met the challenge by contributing $1,000. Truly a sign of support from alumni for President McLaughlin's vision to make UNB the top public university in Canada by the end of this decade.

Proudly UNB Awards Showcasing outstanding alumni

The inaugural presentation of the Proudly UNB Awards took place during Homecoming 2005. The expanded awards program recognized alumni and groups in four new categories (Award of Distinction, Young Alumni Achievement Award, Outreach Volunteer of the Year and Outreach Group of the Year), in addition to 2 previous categories (Alumni Award of Honour and Honorary Association Membership). It is hoped that as the program becomes more known the annual showcase of recipients will become a signature event for the Association and the University.

2005 recipients were:

Alumni Award of Honour – Richard Tingley (BScCE'67, DSc'99), Fredericton; Robert Skillen (BPE'79, BEd'81, MEd'89), Fredericton; Ray Barton (BScCE'69, MScCE'71), Ottawa.

Dr. Hoar taught and mentored many students, first at UNB, where he was appointed professor of zoology in 1939, and then at the University of British Columbia, where he became the first professor of fisheries in 1945. After a distinguished career as a scientist, during which he served on many national and international committees and for which he received an Order of Canada and honorary degrees from several universities, he went on to write and self-publish genealogies under his own publishing enterprise called Tangled Roots Press. He is survived by sons Stewart (Linda), and David (Noreen Rudd); daughter Melanie Galloway (Bill); a sister, sister-in-law and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

W. Kenneth Nonnenman (BScCE) of Montreal passed away July 5, 2005, at the age of 91. He is survived by four children, his grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Leaving a Legacy

Albert (BScCE'47, MScCE'57) and Ena Stevens

I began my relationship with UNB more than 60 years ago, first as a student and then as a professor and researcher. After graduating in 1947, I joined the Department of Civil Engineering as an assistant professor and spent the next 40 years with the department. I could not have chosen a better career. At UNB, I met thousands of students, watched the university prosper, and have had every opportunity to grow personally and professionally. The freedom I had as a professor allowed me to complete a variety of rewarding projects, both as a professional engineer and academic. From forming ADI with Ira, Howie, and Bob in 1952, to sabbaticals at Berkeley in 1958 and Northwestern in 1965, to creating the UNB Transportation Group with Frank Wilson in 1968, UNB, which has supported me in my endeavours, was more than just an employer. When it came time for my wife Ena and me to consider our future, we also thought of UNB's future. For us it was simple: UNB is, and has been for so long, our home. By establishing a legacy gift, we are able to ensure that those scholarships and fellowships we support now, the Albert M. Stevens Scholarship and the Ena and Albert Stevens Post-Doctoral Fellowship, will endure. Not only can we support the next generation of students, but we can also support the place we call home and hold so dear.

You can leave your own legacy.

*About 40 years ago, a group of UNB alumni and friends, led by Brian McLatchie (BA'64) and Al Furlong (BA'66, LLB'71), began gathering in Toronto in late June for an annual reunion built around the running of the Queen's Plate. The group, now including 60 to 75 people, continues the tradition every year with either a lobster boil or pig roast, followed by box seats at the racetrack overlooking the Royal box. That has allowed the group unfettered views of numerous members of the Royal Family, and other luminaries. Shown above at their 2005 reunions are, from left, Bill Whitman (BA'64, MA'70), Jim Olts (BA'66, MA'68), Dave Olts (BBA'65), Al Furlong, Paul Tacon, Brian McLatchie, Pat Hickey Tschannen (BA'67), Arne Johnson (BA'66), and Mary Worrell Furlong (BA'66). All of them want to say "hello" to those of you they've haven't seen in many, many years in hopes that you are all healthy, happy and prosperous.*

He and his wife Joyce (Horton, BA'69, BEd'73) hope to see some of their old (well, let's use past) friends. As well, Joyce hopes to complete the graduate work she started at the U of A. Mr. Speedy comes to UNB from the University of Regina Cougars, where he had served as the head coach of the women's basketball team for the past four seasons.

Mr. Speedy is a graduate of Acadia University, where he obtained a bachelor of physical education in education degree followed by a year at the National Coaching Institute, where he completed the diploma program and received his Level IV NCCP certification. Mr. Speedy also earned his master of education, coaching studies, from the University of Victoria in 1996.

"I am thrilled to be the new women's basketball coach at UNB," Mr. Speedy said. "It is an honour to follow Joyce and I will work hard every day to maintain and build on the level of success that she has established.

Mr. Speedy's years as a head coach include: a one-year stint (1993-1994) with the University of Victoria; eight years (1994-2002) with the University College of the Cariboo; and four years (2002-2006) with the University of Regina.

"This is an exciting time for women's basketball at UNB as we strive to be a nationally recognized and competitive program on an annual basis. I believe that Jeff has the capability to attract and coach the student-athletes that we require to take us to this level," said Athletic Director Kevin Dickie.
