

UNB Graduate Students win two national paper prizes

Two UNB Transportation Group students have won prizes in the Canadian Transportation Research Forum's national student paper competition. Michael Connors has been awarded the first prize in the Masters category - the A.M. Stevens Award. His paper was entitled "Developing a Better Understanding of Motor Vehicle Collisions and the Resulting Health Care Costs in New Brunswick" and was based on his Masters research supervised by Dr. Eric Hildebrand. Along with this comes a $1000 monetary prize.

Trevor Hanson was awarded the second place prize for PhD students for his paper entitled "Transportation Alternatives for the Non-driving Senior in Rural New Brunswick". This paper is based on his dissertation research also supervised by Dr. Hildebrand. An award of $500 came with this prize.
