

Job Advertisement

Chief Information Officer, Associate Vice-President University of New Brunswick (UNB)

The University of New Brunswick recognizes and respectfully acknowledges that the University of New Brunswick stands on the unsundered and unceded traditional Wolastoqey land. The lands of Wabanaki people are recognized in a series of Peace and Friendship Treaties to establish an ongoing relationship of peace, friendship, and mutual respect between equal nations.

The University of New Brunswick is committed to employment equity and fostering diversity within their community and developing a workplace that is inclusive and values belonging, which reflects the richness of the broader community that they serve. The University of New Brunswick welcomes and encourages applications from all qualified individuals who will help to achieve these goals, including Indigenous, Black, racialized persons, women, persons with disabilities, persons of 2SLGBTQAI+ communities and/or persons of other equity deserving/denied groups.

The University of New Brunswick \(UNB\) is among Canada's top comprehensive universities. Its rich history of leading discovery and innovation stems from its entrepreneurial thinking, which has been unlocking creative potential since 1785. The unique nature of UNB's world-class programs attracts students from over 100 countries. UNB is consistently ranked among Forbes Canada's Best Employers, Canada's Top 100 Employers, and Atlantic Canada's Top Employers. Guided by its strategic plan: UNB Towards 2030, the university is embarking on a period of significant change and seeks leaders to support the change that is underway and that which will continue in the years to come.

Reporting to the Vice-President, Administration and Finance and responsible for advising the University Executive and Board on all information technology matters, the Chief Information Officer (CIO), Associate Vice-President (AVP) leads and is accountable for UNB's technology strategy and roadmap, enterprise architecture, data and information management, IT security and compliance. The CIO, AVP supports partnerships, policies and governance structures that translate the needs of a diverse ecosystem of stakeholders into enhanced, digitally enabled user experiences and services. The CIO, AVP will participate in overall business strategy and planning, is responsible for overseeing major technological initiatives, managing technology standards and systems and for providing products and services that enhance and support the University's academic, research, and administrative goals to advance a digital culture across the UNB community. With a commitment to equity, diversity and inclusion, the CIO, AVP will provide a strong focus on innovation, strategic planning, stakeholder engagement, change management, organizational effectiveness, and financial management. Providing leadership to a team of 60+ Information Technology Services (ITS) management and unionized staff across both main campuses (Saint John and Fredericton), the CIO, AVP will help develop the unit's capacity to sustain digitally enabled, service-oriented, growth.

As the ideal candidate, you bring a track record of leading technological innovation and developing/implementing transformative IT strategies in a complex operating environment in the midst of significant and rapid change. The new CIO, AVP will be a strategic, collaborative, service-oriented leader with exceptional interpersonal skills and the ability to bring a diverse range of stakeholders together in establishing a shared vision and translating plans to action. You are known for building a culture of excellence with high performing teams. Your credibility, superior communication skills, and approach result in fostering trusting relationships with internal partners, clients, and your team. Peers would describe you as an authentic, balanced, and fair leader, with a strong bias towards action and a commitment to process improvement.

To apply click here: <https://boyden.thriveapp.ly/job/2124> or for further information, please contact Michelle Richard and Collin Ritch at critch@boyden.com and state the title of the position in the subject line of your e-mail.

We thank all applicants for their interest, however, only those under consideration for the role will be contacted and priority will be given to Canadian citizens and permanent residents.