

Introduction

1. Advance the theme (general sentence)

Why do TV reality shows exist?

2. Raise the subject (specific sentence)

Those shows are really stupid.

3. Add some sentences to list sub-themes

And why call them “reality” shows when there is nothing real about them, and they do not resemble people’s real lives in any way?

4. Add a sentence that takes audience to the first point

Body

1. Explain each idea in a paragraph.
2. Explain or illustrate each idea with examples.
3. Use a relative marker at the beginning of each paragraph.

Conclusion

1. Start with a concluding sentence or relative marker (“In conclusion,” “To summarize,” “For all these reasons,” etc.).
2. Summarize main points.
3. Try to persuade audience of opinion one last time.
4. Raise new subject related to theme.
